Panther Tracks

*50th Reunion Edition
July 19, 20 & 21, 2019*

Forward

This 50th Reunion Panther Tracks is about Boulder High School and you, the classmates from the Boulder High School Class of 1969. Except for this Forward section and the long section that has the most recent classmates' information, this Panther Tracks was completely written before our reunion weekend July 19, 20, 21. This Forward section arrives late because questions and comments during the reunion revealed that some things remain to be told that provide additional texture to our weekend together.

A great turnout of 215 people attended at least one event. As odd as it sounds, it is not perfectly clear how many people were in the Boulder High School Class of 1969. The graduation list had 467 names but we know that some classmates graduated early and that some left prior to their senior year, still feeling that they were part of our class. After extensive comparisons of student directories, Odaroloc yearbooks, and the graduation list our best guess is that we had 551 total classmates. Of that total we show 72 classmates on the list of deceased classmates, leaving 479 candidate classmates to be contacted about our 50th Reunion.

Starting in January 2018, well over a year ago, an extensive effort was made to contact every classmate to let everyone know that their 50th Reunion was coming and that everyone was very welcome. Besides the BoulderHS69.com web site being designed so that it would show up at the top of Google and other searches, classmate location efforts included sending emails to hundreds of candidate email addresses, text messages sent to hundreds of phone numbers, and hundreds of phone calls made. Databases, both free and paid for, were used to track down classmates. Of the 479 candidate classmates, confirmed email addresses, or confirmation that no email was being used, were found for 352 classmates. In the end, 127 classmates remained on the missing list because we could not get direct confirmation from the classmates that the person had been located. Some people simply chose to maintain privacy and not communicate. For example, for some cases the outgoing message for a phone number voice message system was certainly the voice of the person we were trying to reach and, even after several messages were left, none were returned. In other cases we simply ran into deadends. We also had very friendly chats with classmates who told us that they were completely uninterested in the reunion or sharing contact information, but thanks for calling.

Of the 352 classmates for whom we either had email addresses or confirmed that no email was being used, we received contact information, often with biographical sketches, from 244 classmates. That information is in the second section of this Panther Tracks.

Including walk-ups and accounting for a few no-shows, we had 142 classmates attend at least one event. Including guests we had 215 people attend at least one event.

The Boulder High School Class of 1969 web site, www.BoulderHS69.com, has photographs of the events. Below is an example photograph that shows the classmate group photograph and illustrates a few of the wonderful times had by those who were able to make the reunion.

The three of us who organized and pushed this reunion forward and through completion very much appreciate the many sincere “thank yous” that have been sent our way. Later, in the “Tracks to Our 50th Reunion” section, we attempt to acknowledge those who helped make this reunion the success it became.

A huge unexpected bonus that we organizers experienced was getting to know many classmates through phone calls and emails whom we simply had not known before or had not spoken with for decades. That was great good fun for us.

As you will see below, many classmates sent biographical sketches. With few exceptions those biographical sketches are exactly as they were sent. When classmates misspelled their names, or, even more curious the spouse's name, we made corrections (yes, name misspellings occurred more than once). Other examples of corrections made are when the bio-sketch referred to this reunion as the 40th Reunion. We were unsure whether to ask where the Fountain of Youth was located or to change the number to 50th and we elected to go with the number change. It was no chore to read the bio-sketches because every one of them is fascinating and absolutely worth reading. Thank you to everyone for sending in contact information, bio-sketches, and photographs.

To respond to questions of allocation of effort, Ernie Anderson had an uncanny ability to find historical information about the Boulder High School Class of 1969 and facts from the past of our school. Later in this Panther Tracks is an extensive, and we believe, for the first time, accurate and complete description of the history of Boulder High School. Those facts and photographs came from Ernie's extensive archives. His meticulous research also produced the comprehensive list of classmates described earlier. Finally, the sad task of confirming the passing of our deceased classmates frequently was carried on Ernie's shoulders.

Also regarding allocation, Barb Butler Steiner was amazing. She tirelessly tracked the dollars and cents, and would have tracked tenths of cents if needed. Barb's extraordinary attention to detail led to her identifying over two dozen candidate venues for our 50th Reunion events and screening through them to select the wonderful venues we enjoyed so thoroughly. Barb then coordinated with all of the venue operators so that all that we needed to do was show up. Among the other tasks Barb took on was the thankless job of proofreading and improving the class website pages and the major emails that went out. Barb's thoroughness and friendly nature served the 50th Reunion well as she worked to track down contact information for missing classmates.

Finally, the important allocation of blame for goofs and mistakes arrives. Every grammatical error, misspelled word, incorrect punctuation mark, mangled presentation, and failed attempt at levity on the web site or in emails or in this Intro section of Panther Tracks is the fault of Warren Heim as he created every word and punctuation mark of that content on his computer. We jokingly referred to the crack IT team supporting our class that brought up and maintained the web site and its automated updating as classmates registered, set up the email systems, automated the registration data collection process, and managed data processing, knowing full well that Warren was that team. Being the IT department, he is to blame for the assorted oddities that emanated from computers and the web site because he was responsible to carry out the incantations and sacrifices needed to get proper electron behavior. For those annoyed by persistent emails or phone calls you may blame Warren's engineering distaste for loose ends forcing him to doggedly track missing classmates and mercilessly pester decent people to register for our 50th Reunion and enter information for Panther Tracks, often with terrific support from Ernie and Barb. When things needed to be done Warren made sure that ample round tuits were available whenever someone needed to get one. He also conjured the reunion schedule out of thin air and the schedules that led to events occurring. If things did not happen or were missing let Warren know and he will ignore all comments as he blissfully dreams about how wonderful this reunion has been and that he will never do another 50th Reunion.

Forward -- a direction to travel, such as the direction into a 50th reunion and the direction to travel after such a reunion.

Foreword -- a short introduction to a written work written by someone other than the author.

Welcome!

How about that? We pulled it off and find ourselves 50 years later still moving forward. Yes, we have made adjustments (notice the large font size type in this edition of Panther Tracks) but, by golly, we launched into the world after our years at Boulder High and now we can look back with wonder, joy, some tears and regrets, and renew acquaintances and collectively enjoy our mutual successes. Yes, mutual successes because we shaped each other from our times together and we now move on to the next stages of our lives. We helped write the owner's manuals for living our lives and now we can share our joys, sorrows, memories, and continued hopes for the future.

History of Boulder High

Just eleven years after the end of the Civil War, the roots of Boulder High School started in 1875 as Central School with the first graduating class in 1876. That early start made this school the oldest established high school in Colorado.

The school became State Preparatory School on September 5, 1877 as a preparatory school for the University of Colorado. With the remarkably ordinary nickname "Prep," this school held its classes on the CU campus until 1893 in the building now known as Old Main and then at Highland Elementary School followed by another move onto the CU campus into the Hale Scientific Building until Prep had its own building in 1895. To distinguish Prep students from university students, the Prep students were given class names: "Onies," "Toots," "Trips," and "Quads." To preserve the tradition of annoying first year high school students by calling them "Onies" or the even more annoying "Dumb Onies," the Onies appellation was kept for sophomores when the school later became a three year high school.

In the fall of 1895, Prep moved to Pearl Street between 17th and 18th Streets. The school expanded in 1898 with the addition of an east wing. Curiously, for a time that wing housed Jefferson Grade School. Later, the State Preparatory School occupied the entire building.

Dr. Henry White Callahan served as headmaster of the school from 1895 to 1906. He instituted the office of Head Boy. The office of Head Girl came later with that person being "Senior President" until students in 1950 ratified a constitutional provision separating the positions of Head Boy and Head Girl from the office of class president.

The Preparatory School moved forward in 1908 when the North Central Association of Schools and Colleges admitted Prep, allowing its graduates to enter most tax-supported colleges and universities without entrance examinations. Boulder High School continues as a member in good standing of the Association, a reign of 111 years.

Major changes came between 1935 and 1937 with a new building and a new name. The school needed a new building and groundbreaking for that building occurred on December 12, 1935. In 1936 the school's name changed from State Preparatory School to Boulder High School. The 1938 Odaroloc stated that the old building needed to be replaced because "the working conditions were unfavorable" including the "one main building, which had been condemned by official inspectors several times, and the classroom equipment was poor.”

Boulder High School’s big move to its current location occurred in 1937 when the school opened to students on September 7, 1937 at the corner of 17th and Arapahoe. The dedication occurred on November 11, 1937 and the “Dedication Program” pamphlet stated “First purchase of site made in 1921” so the vision for Boulder High School on its current site was at least 16 years old when the building opened. Architectural magazines featured the new building in the two years that followed its opening, honoring its architects, Frank Frewen, Earl Morris, and Glen Huntington.

The 1938 Odaroloc praised the new building for “the best school equipment which can be had – the fine science laboratories; the public address system; the beautiful auditorium, gymnasium, cafeteria, and bandroom; the complete vocational facilities; the heating and ventilation system; and the modern classrooms.” Those facilities led to “the new agricultural course which deals with animal husbandry, farm management, stock showing, and crop raising" and "the industrial arts department" noting that "its courses are open to both boys and girls" and "A class in training drum majors." Clubs expanded and new ones for the Class of 1938 included "the Commercial Club, the Ski Club and the Aviation Club." From the 1938 Odaroloc the news comes that with the new building "Dances are no longer held at an outside dance hall, but are given in the gymnasium or the cafeteria." That gymnasium would have been the same gymnasium that later classes, including ours, would affectionately refer to as "The Pit."

The Art Deco flagstone structure that forms the core of the current Boulder High School building cost $582,327.92 for the site, landscaping, and building according to the Dedication Program from November 1937. The school was built to accommodate 1,000 students in 54,520 square feet of floor area. The Art Deco auditorium, which remains today in that style, had a seating capacity of 1,450 and the gymnasium had a seating capacity of 1,500.

From "Dedication Program" November 11, 1937

The new building had 167 rooms on five floors with 16 rooms in the basement, 82 rooms on the first floor, 46 rooms on the second floor, and 21 rooms on the third floor. In addition to those 165 rooms the new building placed the fan room for the auditorium on the fourth floor and the fifth floor tower housed the final room. The school required three janitors working 10 hours to clean the building.

Controversy came when two large sculptures were installed above the front doors of the school on April 17, 1937. Now known as Minnie and Jake, with the formal names of Minerva and Jupiter, the sculptures represented Wisdom and Strength.

Courtesy Glen Martin

Sculptor Marion Martin created the two 6-foot by 6-foot cast concrete figures to depict wisdom and strength but some community members viewed them differently. Within a few days of being hoisted into place and mounted above the front doors the Art Deco sculptures caused heated debates. Evidently not worried about whether either of the two 5,000 pound sculptures may fall down upon students, many community members criticized the figures as vulgar and expressed concern that they would corrupt the moral character of the students. Comments included calling the sculptures "obscene and contemptible." The school board voted 4-3 to recall Minnie and Jake from their perches, four days after the statues were installed. The following day, sculptor Martin successfully pled his case, convincing the school board to allow the pair to remain to "protect and guide" the school. Some citizens commented that the controversy did get the community engaged in discussing art.

In 2015, the class of 1965 created and presented to Boulder High a plaque about Minnie and Jake. That plaque remains mounted outside the school, just to the left of the entrance. The plaque describes the long tradition of incoming students, the Onies, engaging in a ritual ceremony of congregating en masse on the front lawn on a designated day at a designated time and bowing to Minnie and Jake to signify official recognition of the new class and to boost class and school spirit and bonding by having an initial common experience. The traditional bowing to Minnie and Jake stopped as it lost favor with the end of the 20th century.

The statues may not be well clothed but the front of Boulder High School would be just another boring and naked high school entrance without Minnie and Jake casting their gazes for all who enter the front doors.

Another phase of Boulder High School came in 1956 with the construction of the south wing and the auxiliary gym by Jones Construction Company. Just nine years later, in 1965, the math and science wings came and the combination of their walls with walls of the original building formed a large interior square open to the sky. The original trees remained intact and the square became the present courtyard. The completed construction plan also included a separate art building.

The 1980s brought more changes. In 1983, a major project modernized the cafeteria and added the Student Activities Center. In 1988-1989, with a population of 1,700 students attending BHS, Boulder Valley School District successfully proposed a 7-million-dollar bond. This fund provided for the construction of a new art and science wing, which changed the western edge of the BHS campus. “Cancer Hill” (the smokers’ hang-out) became a thing of the past, and the former art building, Sturtz and Copeland Florist Shop, the Marine Street Apartments, and a near-by candy store all became history as their removal provided space for the addition to the west. The last year of the 1980s saw the Science Department move into the new wing while World Languages took over the vacated third floor space, above the math classrooms.

Boulder High's softball team did not have a home field at the school until one summer in the early 2000s. A new and dedicated softball coach and his team created a home field on the south side of the school, along the east edge of the field between the school building and Boulder Creek. That new field recycled fencing from Recht Field, which was undergoing the conversion from grass to a synthetic field.

In 2010, Boulder High saw more bond-related construction. The main offices were pushed out on the north side of the school. The small gym, which went by many names throughout the years ("the girls' gym" or the "auxiliary gym"), was replaced with a larger gymnasium and team rooms. A state-of-the-art weight room was added to the upper floor of the new gymnasium. To the west, closing off the second floor area on the south side of "The Pit" created a dance and yoga room. A new kitchen was added to the Home Economics room, now fashionably called Family and Consumer Studies. The east side of the third floor also saw some reconfiguration to allow for several smaller rooms for the Special Education Department.

In 2013, the Intensive Learning Center came from the conversion of a classroom and several offices. Since then, Boulder High has had one of the school district's largest English Language Development programs, serving students from over 30 countries.

In 2015, Boulder Valley School District obtained another bond approval from its citizens. Boulder High saw major improvements to its cafeteria and kitchen, library, band room, and the refurbishing of many classrooms and bathrooms. The addition of an improved security system, which included interior and exterior cameras, also came from these renovations. The heating, ventilation, and air conditioning system underwent repairs and upgrades so that it provides comfort throughout the building. On the other side of Boulder Creek, a new press box on the north side of Recht Field, next to Boulder Creek, provided a modern upgrade to the original press box that remains on the south side of the field.

Starting with its time as Prep, Boulder High School has had traditions, some no longer continued. One tradition, now part of history, was the ritual bowing before Minnie and Jake described earlier.

Until it ended in 1947, Flag Rush was an annual event. Flag Rush started with a morning chapel when students and faculty paraded down the auditorium aisles in pajamas (how would that have looked when the Class of 1969 was at the school?). The main event was the race between classes to the top of Flagstaff Mountain with 12 flags. The team getting more flags to the top of the mountain was awarded school colors at the Trip Reception dance. This tradition ended in 1947 because of injuries from the annual event.

The talent show, Vodvil, became one of the old traditions at Boulder High with its start in 1927 to bolster school spirit and raise funds. The tradition continued as the Boulder High Talent Show.

The official histories of Boulder High School remain silent on the well attended traditional senior woodsies. Not being sanctioned by the school administration or other recognized organization, these traditional gatherings to enjoy the outdoors have demonstrated the organizational skills and planning prowess of students who have been taught to engage in community activities and be self-reliant.

Even though 1969 to 2019 spans 50 years, the two Boulder High School classes have almost the same number of graduating seniors. In May, 2019, 463 seniors graduated from Boulder High, only four fewer than the 467 who graduated in the Class of 1969. In 1969 Boulder High enrolled about 1,466 students in grades 10, 11, and 12. The projected enrollment for the fall of 2019 is 2,153 students in the four grades 9 to 12.

Tracks to Our 50th Reunion

All of you made our 50th Reunion possible. You formed our class and the memories that became the bonds to bring us back. Many of you made it back to Boulder for the 50th Reunion Events. Others could not make it and shared information that follows on the pages of this Panther Tracks. Thank you for taking the time to get that information to us. Still others of us looked back upon times at Boulder High with no enthusiasm and chose to remain invisible, a readily understood decision because high school years have tough times for everyone. Finally, more comments arrived than any other topic on the names and number of our classmates remembered as no longer being with us later in this edition of Panther Tracks.

Our 50th Reunion started coming together in January of 2018 and the www.BoulderHS69.com web site went live in March of that year. The venues and events were lined up and confirmed by the end of May, over a year before our reunion year. And you started sending emails announcing your intentions to arrive and signing up on the web site in 2018.

Three people joined together to coordinate the reunion starting in January 2018. Barb (Butler) Steiner and Ernie Anderson were veteran reunion organizers and they, perhaps because the years dimmed recollections of the enormous efforts they put forth in previous reunion campaigns, again charged into a reunion for our 50th. Barb and Ernie were joined by Warren Heim to form the coordinating team. Ernie's enormous efforts, resourcefulness, and his archives provided extremely useful information when tracking down classmates and providing history. His archives included Boulder High documents from the 1930s as well as class lists and Owls from our years at Boulder High and later. Warren wrangled computers, data, and planning and, using his terminology, flogged a multitude of problems into submission. He certainly acted like he had things under control and assured us that the worst thing that any of our mistakes could cause was the earth suddenly stop spinning on its axis with the result that we would all fly off into space. With that assurance, Barb coordinated finding and managing the wonderful venues for our events as well as managed the finances for the reunion.

The coordinating team and the resulting reunion benefitted mightily from the contributions of Dartt Demaree, Sandy (Joyce) Atkins, Shirley (Ditzel) Schaller, Emily (Vila) Haack, and Ken Bell.

Serious efforts and help also came from a team that attempted to contact everyone in our class. We started in January 2018 so that serious efforts could be made to contact almost 500 people in our BHS Class of 1969. Hundreds and hundreds of emails were launched along with hundreds of text messages. The emails and text messages were followed up with many dozens of phone calls and searches for more emails and phone numbers. Of course, social media, including Facebook, were also used as vehicles to contact our “missing” classmates. Among the classmates who worked on these extensive contacting efforts are Scot Smith, Steve Weaver, Sandy (Joyce) Atkins, Don James, Joe Vinson, Bob Perry, Robert Fleming, Marty Wittstrom, Susan Bright Nguyen, Denis Kaufman, Hank Windmoeller, Steve Weaver, and Emily (Chronic) Silver and the hard to get rid of group of Barb (Butler) Steiner, Ernie Anderson, and Warren Heim.

The T-shirts for our 50th reunion came from Rob Jaeger’s enthusiasm to make certain we had proper reunion attire.

Randy Sherman at the microphone followed by Roger Briggs on video and then Emily (Chronic) Silver on the stage handing off to Warren Heim (some people are really hard to get rid of) formed the quartet who spoke about Reflections and Projections at the Saturday evening “Great to See You Again!” Banquet. Of course, that evening was enlivened by Pat Hubbard and Rick Zier as they brought The Moon is Down back up into the sky for us to enjoy. Saturday Evening finished with the audio/video program presentation of our years at Boulder High that came from the superb efforts of Ken Bell and Ernie Anderson (someone else who is really hard to get rid of).

Looking Back At Our Senior Year

In many ways our senior year at the end of the sixties started at the beginning of the sixties. We entered our senior year in the fall of 1968 after being shaped by both dark and light events that came earlier. We sensed dark and tension from "duck and cover" drills in elementary school, the Cold War, John F. Kennedy's assassination when we were in 7th grade, racial turmoil outside of the Boulder island, and conflict in southeast Asia that culminated in the Viet Nam war. We saw light and cheer from following the Mercury and Gemini space flights starting with early mornings in elementary school in the early sixties, transistor radios that liberated us from clunky plug in radios, the Beatles invasion and Ed Sullivan along with the rest of rock and roll, and pushing out against established mores. We knew that oldies music came long ago in the 1950s. Many parents knew that nothing good would come from long hair on rock musicians, let alone The Rolling Stones and Mick Jagger not getting satisfaction.

Culture and events moved rapidly during the final year in high school for the Class of '69. The year had bubble gum rock'n'roll, Nehru jackets, mini-skirts and kneeling on stairs with rulers held by school administrators, skin tight pants on guys, Black Power gloves on the podium for the men's 200 meter race at the Mexico City Olympics, Tiny Tim squeaking with his ukulele, on-stage nudity in the rock musical "Hair" causing people to revisit what constitutes theater, and McDonalds proving that hamburgers can break innovative ground with its culinary introduction of the Big Mac.

Our teenage culture had the KIMN glue. Niles and Farley never seemed to get it quite right, or maybe they did, Jay Mack kept them going. The commercials were hysterical, the call in dedications sometimes plaintive, and the disk jockeys marvelous. Don Martin's traffic copter reports of Denver traffic at the mousetrap reinforced that the real world had messiness. The music resonated with us, caused anguish with parents, and kept the real world at bay as we listened on car radios and transistor radios.

Magic came at the end of our senior year on July 20, 1969, with Apollo 11 and the lunar landing and footprints on the moon, 50 years to the day before our 50th reunion banquet. Before the magic of July 20, 1969, major events sandwiched our senior year. Before our senior year started at BHS, the summer of '68 brought the assassination of Senator Robert Kennedy, the tumultuous Democratic National Convention in Chicago with TV broadcasts of bloody confrontations between demonstrators and police, and the Soviet Union leading Warsaw pact countries invading Czechoslovakia. After our senior year ended, besides walking on the moon, the summer of 1969 brought Senator Edward Kennedy's Chappaquiddick scandal and Woodstock at a farm in New York.

In November 1968, Richard Nixon came back from the political dustbin by winning the presidential election to become our nation's 37th president, defeating Hubert Humphrey and George Wallace (and Pat Paulson and Snoopy). During the 1968 Christmas vacation a dress rehearsal for the big event coming in July had TV broadcasting Apollo 8 carrying the first men orbiting the moon. The Paris Peace Talks stalled while the Vietnam War dragged on. Economic prosperity had the unemployment rate at 3.3 percent, the lowest it had been in 15 years.

Collective emotions bounced during the months before our graduation in 1969. National pride and apprehension for the safety and success of astronauts came with Apollo missions 9 and 10 in March and May of 1969 as the final rehearsals before the lunar landing in July. Bewilderment and tension came both nationally and locally as students for a Democratic Society kept in the headlines, especially as they gained a foothold at CU. In early spring, political militants led by the SDS violently disrupted a speech given on campus by San Francisco State College President, Dr. S.I. Hayakawa.

In the spring of '69 the Boulder Valley School Board decided that the high school that took the overflow students who could not attend Boulder High School should be located inside the city and approved $5.8 million for a new Fairview High School building. Swollen waterways in May of 1969 caused extensive damage, including in South Boulder, Boulder Canyon, and Lefthand Canyon. The raging waters of Boulder Creek closed schools and caused $7 million damage, tearing out part of Boulder High's parking lot. BHS students pitched in to help sand-bag and control water flows across the city. Schools closed a second time due to a record-breaking windstorm.

Boulder became the destination for wandering youths. By graduation time, tension had increased between University Hill merchants and the hippie "street people", resulting in a wave of arrests, complaints, protests, and court actions.

As our senior year rolled along, computer access came to the math department (not PCs, those did not make the scene in any affordable form until 1975 with the IBM PC arriving much later in 1981). Evolution continued with plans for student exchanges with Toluca and Tokyo and girls were allowed to wear "dress slacks" to school. Scholarship flourished as 16 seniors graduated as valedictorians and 7 qualified for National Merit scholarships. The cafeteria moved cautiously toward modern music when a Rockola jukebox took up residence in the cafeteria. The decades long management of the school by Wendell Greer ended with our graduation when he resigned as principal in June.

Events outside Boulder High did not interrupt activities inside the school. Assemblies, concerts, club meetings, thespian productions, Sing In, Vodvil, and Guys and Dolls went on. The JEP Valentine Sale occurred and weekly editions of the Owl led to discussions among students. School spirit continued with BHS sports events and pep rallies.

The television industry produced shows for the few networks that were widely available. Being broadly watched and discussed, those shows provided common cultural experiences for our class. Some were ordinary, some funny, some inane, and others controversial. We watched The Dick Cavett Show, Get Smart (something that viewers would never get with this show), Julia, Laugh In (#1 TV show and introduced new language such as betting your sweet bippy and introduced new personalities such as Goldie Hawn), Lucille Ball, Marcus Welby MD, Mission Impossible (which brought self destruct references to ordinary conversation), Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour (pushing the bounds of what could get past censors if laid between the lines), and The Bill Cosby Show (how far the mighty have fallen in 50 years).

The professional football championship game between the best teams of the not-yet-merged National Football League and American Football League was called the Super Bowl for the first time. Broadway Joe Namath piloted the New York Jets past the Baltimore Colts in a 16-7 victory on January 12 in a game that remains among the biggest sports upsets. The game showed how times have changed. Schlitz sponsored all four beer commercials, which means that as the Colts lost the game, no Budwieser Clydesdales pranced across the screen. Only four automobile commercials aired and no pickup truck commercials appeared to foretell that pickups would become the leading type of vehicle sold 50 years later. Eleven cigarette commercials demonstrated that a burning vegetable stick in one's mouth brought style, elegance, good feeling, and handsome men and beautiful women into a person's life.

The movie industry launched some ground-breaking movies. Some movies launched careers and some also launched enduring cultural references. Hal will never mean the same thing since 2001: A Space Odyssey, we learned that lots of wheeled horses could drag people into theaters to watch Bullitt careen through the streets of San Francisco, Bonnie and Clyde showed that good looking main characters could get people to watch a movie that everyone knew was going to end poorly, people learned that humped-back animals are not parked in a Camelot, Cool Hand Luke introduced us to determination and grit (lots and lots of grit), Guess Who's Coming to Dinner introduced a family to a new reality, and Rosemary's Baby introduced us to Mia Farrow having a problem with the neighbors and that "chocolate mouse" sometimes leads to very close encounters of the wrong kind. The Graduate showed us that "plastic" can be funny and that a vixen can have a daughter who is a babe worth fighting for using both left and right crosses. The Odd Couple proved that opposites attract large paying audiences, and Yellow Submarine confirmed that the Beatles brought a cultural revolution far more dominating than the redcoats' invasion not quite three decades shy of 200 years earlier. Oliver! got its hand on an oscar using an orphan's twisted tale by Dickens.

The music industry busily recorded hits across a full spectrum of musical tastes and styles. "All Along the Watchtower" by Jimi Hendrix had him pushing musical revolution from the outside in. A range of personal relationship songs struck chords with "A Time for Us" (Love theme from Romeo and Juliet), "Hair" by the Cowsills, "Hey Jude" by the Beatles, and "I Heard it Through the Grapevine" by Marvin Gaye. "In-a-Gadda-Da-Vida" by the Iron Butterfly filled us in on drum solos, "One" by Three Dog Night allowed DJs to clue the audience in on the benefits of dogs in cold weather, "Proud Mary" by Creedence Clearwater Revival showed us that singing about the south does not require being from the south, and "You've Made Me So Very Happy" by Blood, Sweat and Tears confirmed that rock music can be more than guitars, keyboards, and drums. "Age of Aquarius" by the Fifth Dimension demonstrated that well arranged and performed songs have great staying power and large audiences. Tommy Roe left many people feeling anything but "Dizzy" as they found that bubble gum can be better from Fleer than from vinyl. The Who let "Tommy" and everyone else know that a rock opera can pinball to major bonus points. The Zombies proved to be very much alive with "Time of the Season" giving the low-down on the season for loving and carefully screening for love by asking what's your name and whether your daddy is rich like me. Max Yasgur found out that dairy farming during August in Woodstock, NY, is different with an audience of 400,000 baby boomers, tuned in and turned on.

This brief history describes beginnings and endings. Years begin and end. Movies and songs begin and end. Our senior year at Boulder High School had a beginning and it ended. In June 1969 the Class of 1969 launched hundreds of personal trajectories. Each trajectory created its own history for 50 years. Now, our history together, summarized for one year here, gives us reason to come together to share our individual histories and, once again, have common bonds through new shared experiences.

Young man standing next to old man at a dusty bar in a small town,
"Well, old timer, what have you done with your life?"

"Well, young feller, I spent almost all of it chasing and carousing wine, women, and song. The rest I wasted."

Greg Affleck

Became a departed panther in 2015.

Based on Greg Affleck's obituary:

Greg was originally from Chicago, Illinois. His family moved to Boulder, where Greg joined our class at Boulder High and also attended a technical school. He graduated with a specialty in Radio and went on to serve in the United States Military as a Marine, earning a Purple Heart in Vietnam. Greg was a Lance Corporal in Vietnam from 1968-1972. He was known as “a tough Marine with a gentle soul.”

He eventually returned to the Boulder area where he loved working outside. Greg had a successful career in landscaping and construction. At home, Greg was an excellent caretaker for his mother. He also loved animals, and had a special soft spot for his dogs.

Greg passed away unexpectedly on October 4, 2015 at his home. He is survived by his one son.

Became a departed panther in 2013.

DIANA ALDRIDGE

From Diana's obituary:

Diana Aldridge, age 62, longtime resident of her hometown Boulder as well as Washington DC and New York City, passed away on December 13. A graduate of the University of Colorado, Diana put her well-known and highly respected communications talents to work on a range of major public policy issues and causes, as well as providing communications advice to prominent national figures over a span of decades. Early in her career Diana worked in the Washington office of Colorado Senator Floyd Haskell. She served in President Clinton's White House in 1992 as the Director of Communications for the Office of National Service, responsible for creating and launching AmeriCorps, viewed as the legacy of the Peace Corps and Vista Programs. She was a Senior Vice President in the public affairs practice of Gray and Company as well as Hill and Knowlton Public Affairs Worldwide under Frank Mankiewicz, the former press secretary to Senator Robert Kennedy. She served as the Communications Director for the 20th Anniversary of Earth Day in 1990 and staffed the Presidential campaign of Senator Edward Kennedy and the California Presidential campaigns of Michael Dukakis and Bill Clinton. In recent years Diana was a freelance consultant to a wide range of media companies and organizations, including ABC News and HarperCollins, where she helped with the acquisition of books including Harmony by the Prince of Wales. She was one of the early supporters and activists in Washington behind The Woman's Campaign Fund, one of the first organizations dedicated to fundraising for women candidates. Diana was known for her wit, which could command a room, her master storytelling, and her unwavering commitment to the causes and people

I actually started working for the Institute for Telecommunication Sciences before I graduated from Boulder High. At that time it was part of the White House. After the Nixon administration it was moved into the National Telecommunication and Information Administration in the Department of Commerce. I ended up spending my whole career there. My highest position was as Acting Deputy Director in charge of the Spectrum Division. The Spectrum Division provided support to all the other federal agencies in radio wave technology. This included making measurements of radio spectrum occupancy (how crowded was the radio spectrum), measuring and documenting the emission spectrum of all Federal radio systems, resolving complex interference problems, determining the viability of non-government and government radio systems to share the same spectrum bands, measuring and modeling the impact of the environment on radio waves, predicting the performance of radio systems, and planning radio communication systems for some Federal agencies. During my career I published several articles in scientific journals and traveled to numerous countries.

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition
Boulder High School Class of 1969*

I received a B.A. and a M.S. in Mathematics and a M.S. in Electronics Engineering.

In 1971, I married my high school sweet heart, Sherri Browning, who was two years behind our class. We divorced after seven years. So I have been single for the last 40+ years. We have a daughter, Jennifer, born in August 1973 and a son, Christopher, born in August 1975. Through our daughter, we have a grandson, Anthony, who is 27, a granddaughter, Mykalie, who is 19, and a granddaughter, Isabelle, who is 17.

I retired in 2006 after which I started a small business with my son making and selling Stirling Engines that will run off of just the heat of a human hand. After a few years, I lost interest in the business and handed it over to my son. Since then I have taken it easy. Most recently, I have developed an interest in psychology.

I still live in Boulder.

50 years . . . what a trip!! I've been in the Boulder area all of my life. As many remember, I was into printing in High School, printing the spirit ribbons for the cheerleaders, campaign buttons, the student directory, bumper stickers, etc. I worked at several print shops in town while I was in high school. In 1970, I went into the Army for 2 years, serving in Vietnam. I returned from the Army and went back to my job at Empire Printing where I met my future wife, Sandy Crews (BHS 67). She was working there as a graphic artist. We were married in 1973 and have been ever since. We have two children, Eric (BHS 94) and Kerry (BHS 98). Kerry and her husband have our two grandchildren, Natalie 7, Nicholas 5. I worked at Johnson Publishing as a 4 color lithographer for 13 years. I decided to get out of the industry in 1985 after it felt like it was becoming a 24/7 job. I did a variety of things over the years doing early morning newspaper distribution, etc. The last 17 years before retirement, I worked at Target. I've been retired for 5 years now trying to get caught up on things I should have done earlier. We enjoy getting out camping, hiking, fishing and hunting when we can. We make trips back to New Jersey often to visit those growing grandkids.

Nancy Anstine

Became a departed Panther in 2018.

From Nancy's obituary:

Nancy Anstine Peer (5/10/1951 – 6/13/2018) passed away on Wednesday, June 13. She was born Nancy Kay Anstine, in Kearney, NE, to Robert and Jean Anstine. Nancy was raised in Boulder, Colorado, where she spent her youth hiking and camping the Front Range of the Rocky Mountains. She graduated from Boulder High School in 1969, and then studied at Colorado State University, in Fort Collins. She earned her B.A. in History, from Northern Illinois University, in Dekalb. She was married to John Peer in 1971.

Nancy moved to Northern California in 1977. She worked as a paralegal, among other things. She had a daughter, Katherine, in 1981, and a son, Jeffrey, in 1983. Nancy committed many years to raising her children, working as a stay-at-home mom and volunteering extensively at their school, Kensington Elementary, where she was even the PTA. president. Nancy later found her calling as an elementary school teacher, a profession that allowed her to share her profound love of learning with so many.

Nancy was a beloved teacher at J.O. Ford Elementary School in Richmond for over two decades, where she touched the lives of generations of students. She had a passion for teaching American History and California History, for leading field trips and introducing young people to the history and beauty of their state. Even after retiring from teaching in 2014, she continued returning to Ford to work as a substitute teacher. She felt a deep affection and dedication to her school and she was truly cherished by the whole community.

Nancy had lived in the East Bay since 1983, looking out on the water from the hills that she loved so much. She will be remembered for her infinite kindness, her generosity of spirit, her sparkling smile and her sweet laughter. She was a good friend to all; a devoted sister, aunt and cousin to her family; a loving and patient mother of her two children; and an adoring grandmother and tireless playmate for her grandson, Ethan.

Charlie Arnberg

Became a departed panther in 1984.

CHARLIE ARNBERG

*Submitted by Sarah (Snow) Williams for the 20th Reunion
Panther Tracks:*

I first met Charlie in the sixth grade at Sacred Heart. He was a class clown and seemed to be in trouble a lot. He used to wink at girls in class and make them blush; then the teacher would think the girls had done something deviant! Charlie was very friendly, energetic, sincere, and had a great sense of humor all the years I knew him. Charlie loved the outdoors and spent a lot of his free time in the back country hiking and camping. I remember one time the summer after graduation Charlie led a few of his friends on a "bush wack" in the area where he grew up in Four Mile Canyon. We had no trail, map, or compass and I was concerned that we could get lost. Charlie kept his bearings the entire time and led us directly to where we had parked our cars. It was an adventure cherished in my memory. Charlie had enthusiasm for life and a positive attitude. He was also honest, a loyal friend and so much fun. His tragic accident on Arapahoe Glacier cut his life short, but Charlie would want us all to have a great time at our 20th reunion and to call to mind the fond memories that his many friends have of him.

Vickie Ashcraft

Became a departed panther in 1973.

VICKIE ASHCRAFT

*Submitted by her sister, Sharren Sund for the 20th Reunion
Panther Tracks:*

After graduation, Vickie lived in New York, then San Diego, Boulder and Fort Collins. She liked to travel and worked at many different jobs. Unpretentious and natural, Vickie lived in the present with a style all her own. She tended her relationships with love. She valued the genuine more than the material. Whether growing a garden or making a gift for a friend, these things were done with creativity and care. She knew how to make herself happy when she needed to, and was always a friend that offered acceptance and gentleness. Her smile, her eyes, and her happy manner continue to bring wonderful memories. Perhaps because her sojourn was to be brief, the transformations that form the circle of life were rapid for her. Birth - Life - Death - Spirit all seemed to telescope in her short time here. Another's inner progress is often very private, but Vickie's seemed to shine through her. In her last years, more and more her physical life became mifused with the spiritual, without dogma or artifice. Vickie was killed in an automobile accident in September, 1973. Our lives have been graced by knowing her.

Hello Panther Classmates! I am glad so many of you will be joining together to celebrate the best BHS class ever even though I won't be able to attend. This severe COPD has really put a damper on my ability to travel. I am, however, still in touch with some of you on Facebook and by phone and love every minute of it! Since the last reunion I married my BHS sweetheart, Dan Arroyo BHS 67 in 2012, moved from MT to WA and live in a barn. Dan and I are the only human residence of the barn and share it with one little dog, Dinky. We are in a little mountain valley and love the clean air, peace and quiet, and the breezes rustling through the pines. If you ever get up this way please stop in and say HI. We're only a few miles from Coulee Dam, Roosevelt Lake, and the Columbia River. HAVE FUN AND MAKE SOME MORE PRICELESS MEMORIES to tell the grand kids!

Greetings from the Verde Valley of Arizona. I arrived in Sedona in July 1993, then lived a year in the Village of Oak Creek, moved to Cottonwood, and have lived at locations here since then. I've made friends with local river conservation and recreation folks; and piloted my IK from Sycamore Creek to Beasley Flat on Verde River, clearing flood debris and trash. The float between Glen Canyon dam and Lees Ferry on the Colorado has been great, twice, each with two overnights. My search for truth and divine love led me to ECKANKAR in 1991, and I'm still pursuing the path to spiritual freedom. As we on Earth/Gaia evolve past 3d-dimensional awareness, through 4th (astral/emotional) into 5th (Causal {memory} Plane), we will experience MUCH illusion-shattering and belief-clearing, unique to our sector of the universe, after which we will be honored guests at the most amazing party ever held. I'm looking forward to it. Happy Landings! It is our destiny to learn to give and receive divine love, which is itself the universal currency.

I had fully planned on being at this year's reunion. However, my husband, John, was diagnosed with Stage 4 cancer in February, went for chemo, then radiation, and is now enrolled in Hospice because his body is just worn out and tired from treatments and the cancer. It's hard to watch and witness. And there's no place else I'd rather be. We have no idea how much time he has left, so we take things day by day, moment by moment.

In many of those moments, I pursue some creative interests.

As with the year, the wheel of my life has brought me back around to my first love: writing. This year, I've also taken up weaving, My mother is a weaver and I apparently have it in my blood, it's just taken awhile to discover this. At this point, I'm focusing on rugs and tapestries. Soooo much fun ... and it helps me stay centered and present.

I've completed the first draft of a about life on Earth some 2,000 years in the future. Humans are still human: loving, hating, disagreeing, learning, growing, and seeking ways to improve their lives. Technology as we know it is utterly forgotten. The earth and her much reduced population have adapted to the changes wrought by climate change, rising seas, pollution, and the depredations of the past. Some still bear the burden of mutations that began in our current era. There have been rapid and curious evolutions of land and animals. Through it all, our descendants live rich lives, honoring Mother Earth and the Spirits of place and life. Or most of them do. Therein lies the story.

I've had a short story published, another one accepted for an anthology, and several others in the works or submitted. Time will tell where they'll end up. I'm enjoying the writing and learning the craft.

One of my fond memories of Boulder is the old library. More than half a century later, I still see the gleaming wood floors and stately, polished wood bookcases; smell the mix of polishing wax and aging paper; hear the occasional soft voice absorbed by wood and books. That library was magic incarnate and it fed my imagination..

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition

I began writing when I was nine: a simple short story. Over the years, I've written journals, poetry, procedures manuals (somebody had to), short stories, and non-fiction. I'm now focusing on short stories. I have a completed fantasy novel that's ready to edit. It's sitting on the back burner because life.

I graduated from Metropolitan State College with a Bachelor's in Human Services. Creative Writing were my favorite courses, but I couldn't see how to make a living from writing. Instead, I worked for many years as a counselor of delinquent teens. This was followed by work in the Fortune 500 corporate world. In my late forties, a health crises propelled me to do some deep soul searching. I turned my life upside down and around. I became a certified Past Life Regression Therapist and, in 2009, published Liberating Incarnations: Twenty-Five Stories of Past Life Regression about the experiences of twenty-five of my hundreds of clients.

My library (shelves and shelves and more shelves, many double-stacked) happily includes the writings of such folk as Ursula K. LeGuin, Diana Gabaldon, Anne McCaffrey, Marion Zimmer Bradley, Diana Paxson, Robin Hobb, Frank Herbert, Adyashanti, Hank Wesselman, Ellis Peters, and Hyemeyohsts Storm. There are also the non-fiction shelves, which I find equally interesting.

I live outside Berkeley Springs, West Virginia, thoroughly enjoying semi-retirement and the long views of mountains and ridges, dragon's breath fogs creeping up the valleys, and the ever-present winds.

I have a website that I occasionally update: www.ElmdeaAdams.com

Wow, I just looked at some of our old BHS yearbooks and can't relate to being so young and naive. I definitely don't believe that Panther Tracks will not be complete without my information! I'm sorry I'll miss seeing the courtyard again since it was so pretty. It's just so sad that so many of our deceased classmates died way too young. They will always be missed.

I retired from working full-time in 2010. I was the CEO of a national managed behavioral health company called ValueOptions; we had 40 million members around the country. Since then, I have worked part-time as the health care operating partner for a private equity firm in New York City (I do that remotely from our home in Baltimore, although I go to NYC a lot). That role means I help evaluate companies we are interested in buying, and then chair the boards of directors of the ones we acquire. Right now, there are seven of those companies. I also sit on the boards of three publicly traded companies.

My husband, Ancelmo Lopes, and I have three kids and four grandchildren, ages 13, 12, 11, and 10. We love traveling and happily do a lot of that, sometimes taking kids and grandkids with us. I am including a recent picture of me, and one with our kids, their spouses and our grandchildren, along with my 95 year old mother

Sorry I can't be there for the reunion but I have board meetings I can't change. My brother lives in Boulder, though, and I hope to get back soon to do some hiking. Maybe I'll get lucky and run into some of you -- let's see if we recognize each other. Have fun at the reunion!

50 years after BHS and where am I? I recently had the disturbing realization that I am probably now on the other side of the generation gap! Does that make me elderly or just a Senior citizen? How did I get here? I can only think that it was through much loving, learning and living! I am so glad to have traveled through this life with my family by my side.

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition
Boulder High School Class of 1969*

I've lived in 18 homes in 8 states (CO, NE, TX, OK, OR, WY, AK, KS) and I learned that happiness is not where you are living, but who you are with.

2 marriages - 1991-forever, Allen Black (Littleton HS '65), blended family of 5 daughters.

1969-87, John Cosgrove (BHS '68), 3 daughters

Many careers - Daughter, Wife (2 x), Mother (5 x), Grandmother (17 x), Odd jobs (13 yrs) Banking (3 yrs), Purchasing Manager (18 yrs), Small Business Owner (3 x over 16 yrs), now RETIRED.

Travel & Family- If we aren't at home in KS or at our winter home in TX, we are on the road visiting 17 grandchildren (13 boys, 4 girls) in CO, GA, KS, TX. They range in age from 5 to 21. This year 5 of the grandsons turn 14 years old! There has been some world traveling to Taiwan, Guatemala, Mexico and Canada. But, I find exploring the USA , enjoying my heritage and history has been the best.

Hobbies - cake decorating, knitting, sewing, quilting. I guess taking all of Mrs Church's BHS home economics classes was an indication of what I really love to do. Whenever I can work it in, I am busy making quilts or attending quilt groups. For Christmas 2 years ago, I was able to give 26 quilts that I made to family members.

The reunion was great. I attended all of the events. It was so good to see so many friends. Hi to those that I missed in that amazing crowd of alums. I so missed my BF's that have passed, Diana Aldridge, Nancy Anstine and Connie Sandrin. Thanks to Barb, Ernie and Warren and all those who contributed to such a memorable weekend. A job well done.

CHRISTIE BOULDING

From Christie's obituary:

Christie A. Boulding, 58, died unexpectedly Wednesday, Sept. 22, 2010 in Wayland, Mass. She was born Oct. 21, 1951 in Ann Arbor, Mich. the only daughter of Kenneth and Elise (Biorn-Hansen) Boulding. She was known as the pickle in the middle in the family of two older and two younger brothers. She moved with her family to Boulder, Colo. in 1967 where she was often involved in Quaker work camp service projects and on the ski slopes during her high school years. A lifelong history buff, Christie graduated in 1973 from the University of Colorado with a membership in the senior women's honors society and a degree in history. She spent several college summers in County Kildare, Ireland with the Guinness historical project to save Castletown House, one of the county's great houses. Christie met the love of her life, Greg Graham, in 1975. They married in Norwich, Vt. in 1981 and the family moved to Wayland in 1985. Greg, Christies husband of 31 years, died in February 2010 after a short battle with lung cancer. Gracefully combining career and motherhood, Christie completed her MBA in Finance from Simmons College in 1981 and became involved in her daughters school PTO, Girl Scouts and athletics as well as her husband's passions for boats and sailing. Family sailing trips in the British Virgin Islands were favorite vacations for years.

Christie's professional career spanned from her appointment at Bank of Boston to her long held positions as Chief Financial Officer of Graham Contracting of Wayland. They worked together for many years, specializing in green residential and commercial renovations and their company gained a wide reputation for its innovative employee partnering management style. Christie had an adventurous spirit. Archeological dives in her youth gave way to her passion for travel, reading and gardening. A dream trip to Italy with her husband in 2000 and a June 2010 cruise through Italy and the Riviera satisfied her love of history and art. She was active in the Wellesley Friends Meeting for many years and served as a Clerk of the meeting. Christie is survived by her daughters Meredith Elizabeth Graham of New York City and Emily Barbara Graham of Wayland. She is also survived by four devoted brothers; Russell of Bloomington, Ind.; Mark of Englewood, Colo.; Philip of Olalla, Wash. and William of Durham, N.C. Seventeen nieces and nephews, as well as six cousins, will also miss her. Christie also leaves behind her dearest friend, Hope Morrissett of Boulder, Colo.

Boulder High School Class of 1969*

I spend much of my time teaching private flute and piano lessons. I have also taken up lever harp and play with a group of local harpists at Celtic events. Leonard Broline

Became a departed panther in 1996.

LEONARD BROLINE

Submitted by Karen Sproul Hassan, Lennie's niece, for the 30th Reunion Panther Tracks:

Writing about my uncle after is clearly very sad but I know Lennie (later known as Leo) would have wanted to be remembered by some of his classmates. Lennie had a remarkable but short life. He was truly a Renaissance man. Lennie was not only a rocket scientist but he was an accomplished writer/poet, astronomer, musician, Stealth pilot, test pilot, humorist, husband, and last but not least a devoted Grateful Dead fan. Just prior to his death of a sudden heart attack he was promoted to

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition
Boulder High School Class of 1969*

Colonel and nominated as an astronaut mission specialist, a life-long dream. Here's an excerpt from his writing about his life-long dream: "Several months before this particular afternoon, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that it would conduct a round of astronaut hiring. In time, the Air Force announced it would accept applications for nomination to same. Having submitted several applications before, I thought I'd do it one last time, and frame the rejection letter for my retirement ceremony. My logic also included getting a small bit of closure on the matter. This was a wildly optimistic stab silencing the calling I've felt for nigh on three decades.

"I say wildly optimistic, because I did, after all, see '2001: A Space Odyssey' 26 times. I did, after all, spend one college spring break at NASA, Houston, where I crept onto the grounds at night, and stole up to the third floor of building four, the one the astronauts work in. I stared wide-eyed at empty fluorescent-lit offices with government-gray desks. Name plates on the desks read 'Neil Armstrong', 'Scott Carpenter', 'Jim Lovell', etc'.
"... and I did, after all, copy Alan Bean's words onto a card which I still keep in my wallet, 'Put all these experiences together, and it's worth any risk, any number of years, anything you have to do.' (Life Magazine, December 19, 1969).

"So there I was, at the end of a career -- wearing blue plastic pants, sitting at a government-gray desk like the ones in Houston, shuffling papers under another fluorescent light. I was pondering whether to dump a meaningless job with good money for the possibility of a meaningful or at least enjoyable job and not much money. I was marveling how much houses, cars, and gas cost in the currency of the soul. And then almost three decades have tiptoed through the door without even knocking.

"So, I suspect that the willingness to release a dream somehow empowers the dream. ('Pick up your china doll, it's only fractured, and just a little nervous from the fall' - Grateful Dead). I don't have a strong expectation of being selected for astronaut, nor will I be crushed if I'm not. That's not the point anymore. The point is that 'It' reaches you right where you are, regardless of how you're fiddling about with the little ragtag bits and pieces of life . It touches you with a grace so powerful it waters your eyes. You yourself have only to look at your beautiful children to know what I'm talking about. Timing is everything."

Well put, Lennie.

Holy Moly!! It's been a thousand years. So much water under the bridge. After graduating from Yale, I came back to Boulder. Not knowing what I wanted to be when I grew up, I ended up helping my Dad in his campaign for Mayor of Boulder. Happily he was elected!

Seeing up close how much can be accomplished at the local level, I decided to get a Master in Public Management at C.U. After that I went to work in Longmont working for the City Manager. Then I was recruited to work in Denver for an in-house consulting firm to the City and County of Denver. We did a lot of good work. But I got a little bored, and decided to go to law school. I went to D.U. at night because there was no way I was going to let my parents pay for it. I loved law school and really disliked working in a law firm. I was lawyer number 160 in a big firm here in Denver. Then my Dad died. It was devastating. He always said that if you're not doing what you love, you're not doing what God wants for you. I quit the firm and went to work in the Romer Administration doing economic development. I ended up at the Dept. of Revenue. I know it sounds dreadful, but I spent eleven very happy years there. I was the Deputy Director managing nine divisions. None of them were headed by women.

I met my husband at the Dept. of Revenue. Barry was with IBM selling large computer systems. I was assigned to oversee the purchase of a new tax system, about which I knew nothing. Long story short, we didn't purchase a system, but Barry was the lucky man who got me, in his own words. We were married nine months later and were ecstatic. Five years later Barry died suddenly. It shattered me. I imploded and was unable to stay at Revenue. A whole other journey began.

That fall I enrolled at the Iliff School of Theology, not because I wanted to become a minister, but because I wanted to figure out who and what this God was. It was a long and tumultuous journey back. During that time, I went to St. Anthony's Hospital here in Denver to train to become a trauma chaplain. The moment I walked into the trauma room I knew this was "home." That's when I met Bradley Beall. He was the senior trauma chaplain and my first mentor. We fell in love then. But it was too early.

After I finished my training and had worked in the hospital as a trauma chaplain, I applied to become the Flight Chaplain at Flight for Life CO, and as it turns out, the first ever flight chaplain in the country! Much to my surprise, I was hired. I was the youngest and the least experienced. It was quite an adventure. I flew and worked with my crews for five years, and spoke at the annual national convention for flight programs. Afterward I was bombarded by crew members around the country who wanted to create flight chaplain positions. I then left Flights and formed my own non-profit - The Assn. of Prof. Flight Chaplains. It is my passion, my love and my calling.

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition
Boulder High School Class of 1969*

During this time, Bradley and I became great friends. We did all kinds of fun things including going to CO Rockies games. We're crazy about baseball! Two years ago the chemistry between us became undeniable and we fell madly in love all over again. It's been joy ever since!!

As fate would have it, we're getting married on Saturday, July 20th. How is that our wedding and the reunion are on the same day?! We'll miss you all, and I know it will be a fabulous, wonderful reunion. WOWee...! Fifty years. Hard to believe!!

My wife Nita and I have been married 42 years this summer. We have two daughters and four grandchildren. For the last 41 years, I've served as pastor for evangelical churches in MN and CO. Along the way, I continued my education obtaining a Masters Degree in Theology and a Doctorate in Biblical Spirituality. I retired from the lead pastor position of our church in Parker, CO in 2015. But not ready to fully retire, began short-term interim pastor work for churches in decline and "set the table" for a permanent pastor. Now, I'm serving a church in Uxbridge, MA as the Associate Pastor for Spiritual Formation.

Time it was and what a time it was; the good, the bad, the ugly..... Regrets?? Well, don't we all! It is what it was. And now (as Joe Walsh sung) "Life's been good to me."

God has granted me time to get my act together along with decent health (mentally, physically and spiritually), blessing me to wake up every morning with the love of my life and soulmate of over 47 years and the tranquility knowing all is well with my family. Still living in the peaceful (pot-filled) mountains above the little eclectic "old" town of quirky Nederland as our home base we travel as much as we can mooching off our families (payback) either in Maui or Alaska or just roaming the roads in our "Big Bertha Buck Truck" and trailer ("Wandawer") enjoying great times together, experiencing the beauty of God's awesome creations and meeting interesting people with their fascinating stories! So if you see "Big Bertha Buck Truck" and "Wandawer," please stop by and have a glass of wine (or whatever). We'll lift our glasses high and toast to the many years gone by with a special tribute to all those BHS 69ers who really believed they were the epitome of something back then!

I try to visit Boulder often. The years at Boulder High School seem close, except when I receive an email reminding me it has been 50 years. I am looking forward to seeing all of you in July.

In the past 10 years, I have been busier than I expected. I left the Miami Herald after 17 years as a reporter just before the last reunion; did three years as editorial director at Latin Trade and then accepted a great offer from FTI Consulting, a global firm. It has been a challenging job for a great company and a very unexpected second career. I moved from Miami to Houston more than three years ago. A big change, always good.

And I also finally married John Kreft in 2017: we eloped after 14 years together. I am now looking forward to working less, enjoying life more and travels with John.

It's actually a sobering exercise to give an accounting of the last 50 years of life! For starters, I have been married to my Swiss husband, Beat, for 44 of those years. We raised our three children here in Boulder, but they now are scattered from Washington, D.C. to Tampa to the South Island of New Zealand. We have four grandchildren, who are the delights of our lives!

Recently (at that magic age of 65), I retired from teaching elementary school, a challenging, but rewarding job that I loved. Since then, I've been able to travel with Beat, visit our far-flung children (we spend at least two months of the year in New Zealand), lead women's Bible studies at church, work in my garden, and volunteer with Intercambio (an NPO that provides English classes to immigrants in Boulder County.)

But it would be dishonest to paint a picture of a "happily-ever-after" life of 50 years. We also have had struggles that threatened to undo us. We have had heartaches that almost sucked us under. We've clung to two powerful words: "But God . . ." By the grace of God, we are where we are today. And for that, my heart is deeply grateful.

I have been blessed that my 45 year career in business (since graduating from CU in 1973) has taken me to many spots in Colorado, and fortunately none of my offices were ever outside of the Centennial state. My incredible wife Janay and I have been together for 25 years and have two kids. Emily (21) is a Senior at UCCS, and Drew (20) is attending Front Range in Westminster. I recall fondly from our 30th reunion that Drew was the youngest of the '69 Panther offspring. It has been an amazing ride being the "old Dad" and trying to stay young enough to keep up with them. Our family continues to be tied closely to the beloved old Boulder Boys and their families and supporting all things Panthers and Buffs. I must say that the leader of that pack of Boulder folks is sorely missed, and we don't have a day when we don't miss Bob Lundein.

To fill in the blanks between the 20th BHS Reunion and now is to tell of sorrow and heartbreak, and joy, healing and happiness.

I was married to my high school sweetheart, Mike Carter, for almost 30 years when he choose to end his life in 2000. He had been struggling with an alcohol addiction for 15 years. Our son, daughter and son-in-law helped me through this nightmare. Through God's infinite love and fellow Christians, I grew in my faith in Jesus.

In 2004, with encouragement from Mike's mother (the best Mother-in-law ever) that I was too young to be 'alone', I signed up with Match.com, the on-line dating service. I figured what the heck. I'd dated some which is weird when one is older. There I met Steve Boyce, Artist. God has blessed me so much through Steve.

Then in 2010, my son died from an accidental drug overdose. Another tragedy that again God surrounded me with people to get me through this also.

Steve and I love to travel with our camper, canoe, bikes, dogs, and cat. Me taking pictures and Steve painting and drawing. Following in my Bio from our website, boycefinearts.com. Please check it out.

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition
Boulder High School Class of 1969*

My Bio from Boyce Fine Arts:

Cindy Boyce, photographer, was born July 14, 1951, in Boulder, CO. Cindy was always interested in creative arts, whether it be pottery, knitting, crochet or cross stitch. Often times designing her own projects.

Her dad was a nature photographer. She remembers going with him on photo shoots in the mountains and he would explain how to compose a picture into a work of art. Moving a blade of grass ("do not pull it"), laying down on the ground in the mud, waiting for the clouds to move in or move out so the lighting would be just so. All this to achieve the desired picture.

Even though blue skies and white fluffy clouds make a pretty picture, Cindy enjoys looking for the unusual subject matter, or different lighting that would produce different moods and emotions.

After 30 years as a Certified Optometric Assistant, Cindy retired in 2017.

Cindy now resides in Paris, Texas where she enjoys walking or hiking around the lakes in the area. She also enjoys gardening, canoeing, and camping. She enjoys exploring the roads less traveled. She states, "There are so many gems out there waiting to be found."

Through her marriage to Steve, her blended family, consists of three daughters, 11 grandchildren and 2 great grandchildren, along with two Shelties and a very independent cat.

I was always kind of an arty kid and this carried forward at Boulder High when I took all the art classes I could and band, band, band. In fact, it continued and now I'm an artist who's a flute player in a community band.

After 40 years teaching drawing and painting in prisons and colleges this year I retired so I could spend more time in my studio. My husband retired at the same time, so what do you know, less time in the studio and more travels.

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition
Boulder High School Class of 1969*

After high school I moved to California, Washington, and Nevada before returning to California for the last 22 years. Definitely an avowed West Coaster. Now I live in the Eel River Valley of Ferndale, CA, where my husband worked as a veterinarian until he retired two years ago. He's not fully retired, though; he still serves the city of Eureka as the veterinarian for the zoo.

I usually spend several months a year filling my creative well in the desert, because I've turned into a major desert rat, usually artist residencies in eastern Oregon, Nevada, and the Mojave. In fact, I was fortunate to spend last May in Mojave National Preserve, which due to the wet winter, was awash with green and flowers. I'm a dedicated walker, and back in the studio I make abstract water media paintings mapping the psycho-spiritual quality of the walks. You can see my work at www.emilysiver.com.

My husband and I have two wonderful sons, Lindsay and Dylan, who now live at opposite sides of the country. Lindsay works in the tech aspect of Conde-Nast in New York City, and Dylan is an underwater photographer in Monterey where he lives with his wife. If we don't travel elsewhere, you can find us doing laps between these two places. As I write this got back from NYC.

I drove a 1956 Chevy in high school, and I've gotten interested in classic cars. About five years ago I bought a 1978 El Camino from Bob Fisher. That was the one time I returned to Boulder NOT for a reunion. Since then I've been occasionally putting it in shows and constantly fussing with it.

The best thing for me since our BHS graduation has been my marriage to Nancy Norman. We met at the Cornell Hotel School and were married in Washington DC in November 1979. Bob and Rose Lundein came - he always reminded me that Boulder was my home. At the time, I was with Four Seasons Hotels based in Toronto and then five years later in Boston with ITT Sheraton Corporation. For both, my job was to look after company-wide training which led at Sheraton to managing their system for improving guest satisfaction. ITT's sale of Sheraton to Starwood in 1997 marked the start of my next chapter. Nancy and I explored several work and lifestyle options and wound up opening our house as a bed and breakfast! Meanwhile I joined a company that specialized in training for Microsoft products and a few years later to looking after technology at a school here in Marblehead, Mass. For some time, like the last decade, we've toyed with the idea of simplifying our affairs - closing the b&b - and spending more time in Marco Island, Florida where we tend to go for winter respites and where Nancy totally enjoys her painting and pottery and selling her wares at local shows. I'm her mule. Right now, here in Marblehead we're in the midst of putting our house on the market and then the plan is to get on the highway and see America.

"If you want to catch beasts you don't see every day,

You have to go places quite out of the way.

You have to go places no others can get to,

You have to get cold and you have to get wet too."

...Dr. Seuss

I became familiar with this verse years ago after a camping trip on the St. Lawrence with my husband and several friends. We were there to kayak with the minke whales but got lucky and had belugas and blues among us as well. It was an awesome experience and definitely something you don't see every day! Since Then this quote has become my personal proverb as it so nicely "sketches" the most meaningful years of my life. I will forever be grateful for my husband who, from day one, shared my wanderlust... and for my friends and family who are still willing to travel with me.

Presently, I am retired, but still busy. In the last 40 some years I have put away my violin and have been busy working as an interpreter for the Deaf. Learning sign language from the Deaf community at church led me to work for them at the EPA, MSHA, BLM, and U.S. West. I left my freelance interpreting in the early 1980s to become a certified Educational Tutor/ Interpreter for deaf and hard of hearing students in the Jefferson County school district. I started out as a "Demon" at Golden High school with one student, moving onward to the Deaf and Hard of hearing center program as a "Saint" at Jefferson High School and then transitioning to a "Farmer" at Wheat Ridge High school until my retirement in 2011. I liked working with the high school students with Quite the mix of classes...my favorites being History, English and the Science classes. Art, Spanish, weight training, auto mechanics, and classes at Warren Tech were other classes that taught ME a lot. After school sports (basketball, track, swimming and soccer were fun to interpret for, even though we did not always have the winning student or team. Outdoor lab and interpreting for graduations, parent meetings and a whole range of events kept me busy. 1984 I was able to "shadow" (follow and interpret a character) In a play that Fairview High School put on. George Orwell's "1984" was a fun experience, except when one time the students who I happened to walk in with (O'Brian) had a real rat in hand! And ... the rat had just bit someone!

school, if there was too much snow on the ground or the temperature was too cold!

We have had three children:

A boy born premature who lived only three days with no lung development. A sad time in our lives.

A boy, who we adopted when he was three weeks old, who is now 42 years old...married with two children...a son age 19 and a daughter age 17. Happy times!

And

A daughter (who...I ...as a "human incubator"... grew...during a four month stay in bed, head down and feet up, in the hospital after the "water" broke at 23 weeks) who is now 38 years old...married with two little boys...ages 3 years old and 5 years old. Very happy times now! I take care of these guys while Mama is working.

As a family we have enjoyed our times going to the mountains or trips to other states 4-wheeling, camping, or just going places to see the sights. After the kids were on their own, Dave and I continued traveling in our RV. Some favorite trips have been to Alaska (twice), one time taking our RV on the ferry up the inside passage, Nova Scotia. and some of the historical places back East -- like Gettysburg.

Church...has been an important part of our lives...interpreting and singing on the praise team and having friends and new people from church come to our home has given us good times in our lives. I love cooking, so having Dinner groups with karaoke singing after dinner, teas, and holiday meals with family are times we cherish.

Dave and I have been married for 49 years now...working toward our 50th! Hard to believe the years have flown by so fast. Dave learned he has Parkinson's, so our latest project has been to work on a ranch style house to live in, instead of our big two-story home. He is doing all the work on the house himself as his physical therapy (he says). I help when I can.

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition
Boulder High School Class of 1969*

So...that is basically what has happened in my life since high school... although much more has happened!

Will just see what the future brings!

After retiring from the Air Force in 2002, I worked part-time doing personnel law. In recent years, Caryn and I have traveled some in the U.S. and overseas, visited family (we now have 11 grandchildren), hiked in Rocky Mtn National Park and been active in our church. Caryn works 2 days a week as an R.N. at Denver Health---my only contribution is seeing that she has 2 full travel mugs of coffee when she heads out the door at 5:45 a.m.

Thankful to have made it this far. I now have a greater appreciation for the benefits of living in Boulder in the 1960s, having a supportive family and going to Boulder High. The things that are seen are transient but the things that are unseen are eternal.

We have done an amazing job raising 3 boy babes into 3 fantastic men. We have 6 grandkids and 2 semi-grandkids, 2 boys and 6 girls. We also have 3 great grandbabies. How does that happen???

I will be retired from the Longmont School District by the time this comes out...34 years in the Nutrition dept....we feed the future. I also was in charge of all the district catering from 10 to 350, snacks to meals....no wonder I am so tired. Ron retired from 45 years of being a mechanic a couple of years ago but I got him a job in my dept to keep him out of trouble. He is enjoying a pretty stress free part time job being adored by the ladies in the kitchens. We would like to travel a bit now.

There has been a lot of changes in my life since our 40th reunion. First and foremost is my new significant other, Paula. By the time the reunion rolls around we will have been married for 10 very happy years. She is a Las Cruces, New Mexico lifer where we meet at Mayfield High School as we were both members of the faculty. I most recently taught at an early college high school on the NMSU campus. After 42 years teaching high school science (1 year in Nebraska, 30 years at Regis Jesuit High School in Aurora, and 11 years in the Las Cruces Public School System), I retired in June of 2017. I did not have to twist Paula's arm to much to have her retire with me. We quickly sold our home in Las Cruces and moved to our cabin in Cloudcroft, New Mexico. I moved from Colorado in 2006 to escape the snow and find myself back at 9000 feet.

We have spent the last 13 months living in our cabin during a complete remodel and enlargement. Cloudcroft is a very small town with about 700 full time residents. We walk to town and get our mail each day. They say that Cloudcroft is 9000 feet above stress level. I now have 2 grandchildren living in Limon with my youngest daughter, Lauren and her husband. My oldest daughter Annie just bought a home in Arvada. Paula has 3 children and 5 grandchildren to round out our blended family. Just got back from a trip which started in Tucson for a Joan Baez concert and included stops at Lake Powell, Bryce and Zion national parks, Salt Lake City to see my younger brother John, and Denver to see my kids (photo taken at the White Fence Farm in Lakewood with my wife and granddaughter Mikayla. In April and May 2018 we completed a circle trip to visit San Antonio, New Orleans, Savannah, the Great Smoky Mountains, Nashville, and Chicago to be with my older brother, Chuck who retired from Northwestern. We are planning a AMTRAK train adventure in May 2019 beginning in Seattle, traveling down the coast to LA to meet my daughters and grandkids at Disneyland, and then hopping back on the train to travel back to New Mexico. Hope to see as many of you as possible in Boulder mid July. Go Panthers!

Became a departed Panther in 2000.

BILL DUGAN

Submitted by Geoff Hoyl and Rick Geesaman obituary information from the Daily Camera:

Two years out of Boulder High, Bill Dugan yearned for big changes and adventure in his life. Instead of enrolling in another quarter of classes at Mesa College, he pocketed the tuition money and packed all his gear into his beater pickup (no 4th gear, no reverse, burned oil). Bill drove north until he ran out of gas and money in the Stillwater Valley of southern Montana. He walked to the nearest ranch house and offered to work for free, an offer that was gladly accepted. Once Bill got a taste of Montana, he never left.

Bill developed many skills over his next twenty-five years. He became a first-class cowboy, ferrier, blacksmith, horse packer and guide respected throughout the Stillwater country. He lived a simple life with his wife, Sherry, raising his son and daughter in a log cabin he built with his own hands. His warmth, humor and boyish bravado made him seem bigger than life

In 1995, Bill suffered a severe head injury while working cattle near his home in Nye, Montana. Bill remained in a coma for five years, living day-by-day in a hospital in Columbus, Montana. Finally, Bill passed away on March 27, 2000. Bill was an unhesitatingly generous friend to his neighbors, and remains adored by all that have been fortunate enough to know him.

I live in the Mojave Desert of Southern California, with my husband Christopher, my two Australian Shepherds, my horse, and a host of desert wildlife. I work from home as a freelance writer, and have for a number of years. Current projects include a book on women who've dedicated their lives to protecting America's wild horses; and a second volume of poetry. Over the years, I've worked and lived primarily in California, with stints in Oklahoma, Arizona, Colorado, Nevada, and Utah. I have a 39-year-old daughter, Michaela; and a 31-year-old son, Matlock, both of whom live in Florida. Still no grandkids of my own--yet- :) Christopher and I enjoy road trips together, and share a love of the Pacific Ocean and its beaches. I pursue my interests in equine advocacy, writing, art, spiritual enhancement, and making the world a better place. No matter where I live or where I travel, Boulder will always be my home. Although I cannot attend our 50th BHS Reunion, I will be there with you in heart and spirit. Wishing each and every one of you the very best of life, today and always. With love, Barb Dunn

I am sure many of us are wondering how can it be 50 years since high school graduation, and how did this time fly by so quickly? I have to say that I have many fond memories of Boulder High.

What have I done since high school? Well, I stayed in Boulder and started a business, Aspen Eyewear, from which I will officially retire this year. Raised three daughters (all Boulder High alums), have one stepson and seven grandchildren. Grandchildren are such a joy and just plain fun!

I still enjoy skiing, scuba diving and backpacking. I also enjoy building hot rods and doing restorations and have three current projects. Ten years ago I got hooked on 18 hour endurance car racing and have a team with my nephews. We race once a year and rebuild the car the rest of the year.

I've been lucky enough to survive two avalanches (one in Switzerland) and one moose attack by my house (on Switzerland trail)!

I happily remarried 15 years ago and my wife Holly Arnold and I enjoy our home in Four Mile Canyon and vacationing in St.Croix. We have a great life together and have been fortunate enough to have traveled a bit, South African Safaris being the highlight. We also enjoy road trips with the hot rod and car shows.

In short, with all of its ups and downs, life has been good and I feel very lucky and fortunate and I am hoping the same for all of you.

50 years and counting

Well the facts of the matter are: 1 wonderful wife for 44 years and counting, 3 amazing kids and most assuredly not counting. Finally on the family front 2 terrific grandkids that keep me young.

I discovered the wonders of higher education: Bachelors of Social Work and Masters of Social Work.

Work early on was a mixture of construction and painting. (So grateful for a backup skill that paid the bills) That was during the Reagan years when the government was trying to believe that if they didn't focus on the folks that were not able to make ends meet (personal/social/financial/mental difficulties), they would just go away magically.

As the tables turned, I settled into the job that fully captured my attention and effort. School Social Worker for Westminster Adams 50 School District. I loved my time and people that I worked with over the 27 years.

Briefly on the FUN front my wife and I just achieved the wonderful objective of visiting all 50 states, as well as Mexico and Canada several times and a variety of locations in Europe. I also love pickleball, hiking, and watching wildlife.

As I said before, "and counting". More to come, God willing!

TIM FAIRBAIRN

Submitted by Arnold & De Fairbairn for the 20th Reunion Panther Tracks:

It seems like only yesterday that I held our new son, Tim Fairbairn. I thank God I was able to hold him and love him while we had him. Although it's been fifteen years since Tim was killed in a car wreck, we still miss and love him. When you young people come back for a reunion, we see the way you have grown up - the weddings, the children, the different vocations. Also the growing pains, the anxiety and the hurts that you've all had to accept. As a parent, I realize it's not an easy path we follow, but I also know the joys of watching our youngsters grow, and the blessings we receive far outweigh the hurts. I'm sure Tim is here in spirit. Some of you remember Tim as a wild, ornery young man. Some of you don't know that about two or three years before Tim died he made a new friend, for he met Jesus and his life took on a new meaning. If he were able to talk to each of you today I'm sure he would encourage you to find such a friend. As their Minister said when preaching Tim's funeral message, "None of us know what journey our lives will take, or when; but as for Tim, he had his bags packed." GOD LOVES YOU.

Since last time...By the time reunion rolls around, we will have been happily married for 43 years (well I'm happy she is long suffering and tolerant). We have two amazing children who, in spite of my influence, turned out normal and they have married equally amazing spouses and blessed us with six beautiful grandchildren. We followed them to Florida where my son-in Law and son started a construction trash removal and safety rails business until the housing crunch in '08 and they all ditched us and returned to Colorado. But enough about them, this is all about me. I had been cruising right along. Retired from City of St. Cloud in the fall of 2017, I had been putting off hip replacement surgery Monti (my wife) said I was at that awkward weight, to heavy to be attractive but not big enough to earn money in a side show. My pre-surgery physical revealed a sketchy EKG. A heart cath. procedure revealed the need for a triple bypass (evidently "fried" is not a food group.) Tried to get the surgeon to lean in for a selfie when he had me cracked open for our Christmas newsletter but he wouldn't go for it. Guess I should be happy some people chose to take their education seriously. So with a rebuilt heart I went back to get my hip done. Apparently this guy was a measure once, cut twice kinda guy because after my hip was replaced my left leg is 1/2 inch longer than my right (he says it will even out over time). So now I can walk without pain but only in a clockwise direction (lemonade from lemons, if I should choose gender reassignment surgery I'll change my name to Eileen). For some, as yet, unknown reason my ears quit working. My right ear in the fall of 2017 and my left following my bypass surgery. Both times doctors said it was probably a result of an inner ear infection, no answer. So anyhoo, I now have some amazing hearing aids that enable me to hear everything but what I want to hear.

I was feeling rather used up until I saw the list of our deceased classmates and I am embarrassed by how weak I have become but in 40 plus years of trying to live for Jesus I have come to realize by the Grace of God..." when I am weak, then I am strong.

My Grand Kiddos want to spend part of the summer with us in Florida, I guess so they can learn about humidity, so I won't be able to make it to the reunion. Have fun y'all.

Wow! Fifty years out of high school and I continue to wonder when I'll be "all growed up." Post BHS I declared as a freshman that speech-language pathology would be my vocation. I actually graduated with that degree and began my career in the schools in Laramie, Wyoming. Eventually I moved to Casper, Wyoming where I live today, and where I practiced my craft until November of 2019. While I worked at the School for the Deaf, the Child Development Center, and the local school district, the majority of my career was spent working in the local hospital. After retirement from the hospital I worked at a nursing home and did private therapy. It's been a terrific life's work that I enjoyed tremendously and hopefully helped a few people along the way.

As life progressed I assisted bringing two young boys into this world who are now quite successful. Our oldest son lives in Seattle, Washington and has blessed us with two grandchildren. Our youngest son lives near us and works for the City of Casper. His wife is an elementary teacher in our school district. They have two dogs that we adore and care for occasionally. I said "No" to caring for their chickens!

Both Jim and I are active in our church family singing in the choir and ringing bells. Jim also is a lay pastor and travels around the state filling the pulpit where needed for vacationing pastors or open pulpits. Other activities include singing in the Casper Civic Chorale for many years. This has allowed us to travel with the group to places like Italy, Germany, the Czech Republic, Ireland and Austria.

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition
Boulder High School Class of 1969*

Other travels have taken us to Israel and places in the US through Road Scholar. Our next trip is to the east coast this fall for Lobsters, Wineries and Foods of New England with an Alaskan cruise planned in August 2020. During the summer we enjoy our one-room cabin on Casper Mountain - 20 minutes away in time and hundreds of miles away in spirit where reading books, taking walks and grilling a brat is about the best living any given day.

For the most part we are healthy and enjoying life in retirement wondering what may come next. I wish all of my BHS friends the best as we look to our "golden years" with eyes wide open and an eagerness to live each day to the fullest.

Breida and I have been mostly retired for three years. I still occasionally do some geologic consulting. All three of our sons got married in a 13 month span, and now we are blessed with two awesome grandchildren. We are traveling a bit more

Holy Cow!!! 50 years and so much has happened!!! For some reason high school doesn't seem that long ago. I have often wondered why those years remain so special and vivid. Maybe it was because we each knowingly (or unknowingly) played a part in helping each other grow up. So many great memories and fortunately not too many regrets.

As far as the last 5 decades - Bev and I have been married for almost 40 years. We have three grown children and have been blessed with eight grandchildren. Our two daughters and their families live in northern Idaho and our son and his family live in Texas.

After high school I attended and graduated from CU, then went back to get a mining engineering degree from the Colorado School of Mines. I was fortunate to work for the same company, Consol Energy, my entire career. My job took our family many places around the USA over those 35 years.

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition
Boulder High School Class of 1969*

I retired almost a decade ago and Bev and I split our time between Coeur d'Alene, Idaho (summers and falls) and Mansfield, Texas (winters and springs). We're blessed to have the opportunity to spend so much time with our kids and grandkids (our grandkids at this stage are young enough that they seem to be glad to see us). For spare time Bev and I do a little traveling, a little volunteering, a little fishing, and together we spend a good amount of leisure time on the deck (we call it wine-thirty).

Looking forward to seeing everyone. Don Gibson

My work life is what many folks would like in retirement. Owning BootDoctors ski and outdoor shops in Telluride and Taos allowed me to ski every day of the winter. In the summer I operated rafting, bike and SUP tours in addition to the retail outdoor shop. So work had me running rapids and pedalling trails and passes all summer. We sold the BootDoctors to Christy Sports a year and a half ago. My semi retirement lifestyle has me fitting boots on weekend afternoons and evenings in the winter. I retained ownership of the rafting business and the real estate which keeps me active and connected. This past winter, my Ski Tracker shows I skied 132 days and 2,380,000 vertical feet.

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition

My wife, Penelope, and I have been married for 18 years. I have two daughters from my first marriage that live in the Telluride area where we are. My older daughter, Galena, is at the birthing center in Grand Junction to deliver our second grand child as I write. My younger daughter, Kelli, is general manager of the BootDoctors for Christy Sports. Penelope is involved in marketing and is President of the Telluride Council for the Arts.

We love our life in Telluride. Beyond the amazing beauty of this place, the community and culture here is extraordinary. We got here early enough to have bought in before values went stratospheric. Perspective is liberally cutting edge here. It suits us well.

We have a whitewater dory that we love for running big water. We have a Sprinter camping van for travel freedom. Penelope's family has a summer place in Mt Desert Maine where we pass around a month of each summer on the water. We enjoyed Burning Man last summer.

Dan Gomez

Became a departed panther in 2016.

DAN GOMEZ

Compiled from Dan's obituary:

On April 11, 2016, Daniel Leonard Gomez of Broomfield, Colorado, passed away in his sleep. He was 65 years old. Daniel loved his family and treasured the time he shared with his sons and their families, as well as his sisters and brother and their families. He was an avid outdoorsman and enjoyed camping and hunting near Monte Vista and Sugarloaf Hill, and fishing at Marshall Lake. He was a member of the Louisville Rod and Gun club and actively participated in the annual fishing contests. Daniel was a fantastic cook and was especially known for his green chili and tamales. Daniel served in the United States Air Force stationed in Texas. He was honorably discharged after two years and seven months of service. He worked for the City of Boulder for 13 years in the Streets Department and as a Meter Reader and stand-by in the Water Department. He worked at the Rocky Flats Weapons Plant as a truck driver and retired as a dispatcher after 12 years of service. He is survived by his son John Rual Gomez, of Broomfield, CO, his son Daniel Thomas Gomez, his wife, Nicole Gomez, and their two children Sophia Marie Gomez and Olivia Eve Gomez of Longmont, CO.

Married to Patti Gorrell for 25 years and have 2 children (Joseph now 22 and Meliza now 19) I own Gulf Coast Precast which is a manufacturing company for commercial construction here in sw Florida. My brother and I have patented two products for the construction industry and these are working quite well for us. I will back out of the day to day work April of 2020 when our house in Grand Lake is complete. We plan on spending most (maybe all) of our time in Grand Lake unless it gets so bitterly cold that we have to run to Florida for a week or two to thaw out!! We do a lot of boating/fishing in the gulf of Mexico and enjoy island hopping. We are both looking forward to doing a little traveling and scratching some areas off our bucket list. We are both healthy, happy, and blessed with two wonderful young adults that we have had the pleasure of watching them grow. Now we look forward to another chapter in our lives!

The first 45 years since graduation included college, marriage, career, raising children, becoming empty nesters, traveling, caring for aging parents, losing parents and sadly a sibling and a few friends. More recent history includes the joy of seeing our children settle into their careers and find their significant others.

Mikaela married last summer and is a manager at Facebook, and James works as an engineer with the County of Marin. I can't seem to stay retired so work part time at Kathryn Hall winery booking special events. I am trying to open up my creative side and have been studying painting for the past five years. I just had my first show in a little café/gallery in Calistoga and sold two little paintings. Dan and I continue to live in the Napa Valley and love to travel and spend time with our children. I have retired myself right into the horticultural track that I last studied in college. Living in the Pacific Northwest, we enjoy a huge variety of possible plantings and my husband and I have amassed a special collection. I remained in Boulder for many years after public school, enjoying working for the City of Boulder Housing Authority and doing volunteer work, as well as catering as a part-time stint. I visited Nicaragua during their war in '84, at the behest of their government, which became a life-changing event for me. While the Seattle area has been my home for many years now, hiking in the Rocky Mountains remains my fondest of memories.

After 50 years.... guess there isn't room for the whole story. Went on to University of Denver and got degree in Communications. Moved to Calif., worked as legal secretary for awhile, worked for Stephen Wozniak as Director of the Technology Fair at the US Festivals. Went into Sales for Univ. of Phoenix. Was Sales Manager and Certified Instructor for Dale Carnegie Training in San Francisco. Was Sales Training Manager for Nextel for a five state region. Left career to take care of senior parent, on and on. It was a wild and woolly 50 years but guess I did it my way. Retired now, living in Las Vegas for health reasons mainly. Making handcrafted beaded jewelry to while away the time and sell on Etsy with spare time taking care of my little rescue Chiweenie. Exciting huh? Hope you all are well, happy and enjoying peaceful and prosperous lives. Have fun at the reunion and be kind to one another. We all went through quite an era so to speak! And much thanks to Barb Butler Steiner and the Reunion Team for all their hard work in bringing us all together over the years.

I moved back to Colorado in 2015 and live in Pinewood Springs (on the way to Estes Park on hwy 36) with an old friend from my days as an artist in Boulder in the late seventies.

I find myself part time at Home Depot in Longmont, supplementing my income and selling pipes to plumbers, lumber to carpenters and wire to electricians.

2 white dogs - german shepherd, Starr King and mini schnauzer, Dazee.

Single and no kids.

I get by with a little help from my friends.

In July of 1969 I enlisted in the U.S. Coast Guard where I served with Search and Rescue for four years. In the Fall of 1973, I began college at the University of Colorado in Boulder. During college, I placed in weight lifting competitions and was a top ranked bicyclist. I graduated in 1979 with a BA degree in Fine Arts and English.

One day in 1984, taking out the garbage, I fell. While most of us would not consider this momentous, life as I knew it was about to go out with the trash! At the time, I was a competitive bicycle racer. I could not believe that my finely tuned muscles and acute sense of balance that always assured me success on the open road had failed me on a trip to the garbage can! Increasing symptoms and many trips to the doctor soon confirmed the failing. I was diagnosed with Multiple Sclerosis. Acute and incurable, I was told that I would slowly lose the use of my body.

Somewhere in the dawning awareness that my life was changing forever I picked up a chisel and began to carve. As I stepped onto the path of creativity, I also began a journey. The alabaster that I chose as my medium called to me despite a rapidly debilitating condition. As I carved, I learned not just about how to hear the story in the stone, but how to take care of my health. I discovered that by changing my diet and lowering my stress levels my symptoms decreased and became more manageable.

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition
Boulder High School Class of 1969*

After 35 years, I am still able to live independently and most importantly, to continue working in my studio. Over these years I have come to view this situation as a learning opportunity. Not only has it opened up many new pathways to me but it has broadened my perspective.

Each piece I sculpt is a revelation, encompassing and expressing the passions of the soul's journey. Most people who experience my work seem to perceive the essence of that revelation and it resonates with their own journey. You can see my work at briangrossmansculpture.com.

One thing I've learned for sure is this: The mechanism for learning is living. The mechanism for living is learning. Simply put, I am alive because of my life's creative needs...the need for both sculpting and living outside the box.

When I look back on the last 50 years I know how incredibly lucky I have been. I have spent my life with people I love, worked in a profession that both challenged and rewarded me and have been able to enjoy my retirement doing the things I like.

Not long after graduation I married Doug Golliher (BHS class of '68) who has always been the love of my life—he supports me and encourages me and can even be coerced into traveling with me! This year we celebrate our 50th wedding anniversary. Our sons have grown into good people that we like a lot, our daughter-in-law is wonderful, and our three year old granddaughter is the pure joy of our life.

I taught elementary aged children in the St. Vrain district for almost 30 years. I specialized in helping kids make sense out of mathematics and taught math education workshops and classes to teachers throughout the country. In 2006, I retired from teaching. I will be forever grateful that I was able to teach and equally grateful that I could retire while I still loved my work.

Doug and I know how fortunate we are to be healthy and able to enjoy our life together. We live on a small lake in the metropolis of Mead, Colorado (population

While our life has not been perfect, our happiness by far outweighs our problems. I thank God everyday for the life we have.

Retirement holds little appeal, though my latest project is to help successful Baby Boomers make that leap to whatever's next. (I just eavesdrop on their good ideas.) My beautiful mother died of Alzheimer's in 2015 and my 90-year-old father lives at the Academy in Boulder. My brother Richard, a pilot, lives in Boulder, too. And my sisters Annie and Sara have adjoining hobby farms in Loveland where they raise adorable plants and animals, so I visit Colorado every two months or so to hang out with Dad and frolic on the farms. I love California but am coming to appreciate Colorado more than I ever did when I grew up there. It will be good to connect with some BHS classmates again--we grew up at a singular and wild time in American history (I was reminded of this by the recent 50th anniversary of the Summer of Love in San Francisco) and it will be so interesting to bump heads around how we all managed to turn out.

From the 20th Reunion Panther Tracks.

Submitted by her father, Richard Hauser:

After 3 years of illness, Diane Hauser passed away in 1986 from cancer. She had graduated from high school in Wichita, KS as co-valedictorian. In 1973, she graduated Magna Cum Laude from Trinity College in IL, majoring in music. She was highly sought after in the Chicago area as a piano accompanist.

She married Dan Grell from Richvale, CA in 1973 and had 3 sons. They lived in Austria for a few years before

Phil Heim

Became a departed panther in 2001.

Prepared by Warren Heim, Phil's younger brother:

Among Phil Heim's many fine qualities were his loving nature, charming manners, kindness, and fascination with animals. Phil had the intrinsic ability to make other people feel special, a quality that served him well as he moved into life after Boulder High. For example, he worked as a driver for Special Transit and was selected Employee of the Year and received the award at an all employees' banquet. I am certain that every one of his passengers knew that Phil saw them as individuals worthy of special attention and courtesy. That was Phil's nature.

As a youth, Phil grew up with pets, including beagles, ducks, tortoises, and lizards. Time with the dogs included time on the plains and the Red Desert of Wyoming rockhounding and arrowhead hunting. Phil had keen vision and was outstanding at both of those pursuits.

Phil tremendously enjoyed the outdoors. As part of being outdoors, as a teenager he would head out northeast of Boulder to farmland of friendly farmers to hunt rabbits with a single shot .22 rifle (back then there was a lot of open territory on farms not far from town). He would generally bring back some game that he shot. Most people hunt rabbits with shotguns, not Phil. His keen vision allowed him to see the rabbits sitting quietly in the distance and he would carefully aim and get his quarry. More remarkably, Phil would hit them on the run with that single shot .22 rifle. I saw him do it and that was a special bit of marksmanship.

Fishing and Phil went together. He would spend hours confirming that a day fishing was a day well spent.

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition
Boulder High School Class of 1969*

Phil moved to rural Nebraska with his family. Among other activities, he repaired farm equipment and was a respected member of the maintenance crew for a local college. Those endeavors allowed him to use his knack for debugging and fixing mechanical apparatus.

With Phil's passing those whose lives he touched lost a kind and loving person whose charm dignified many hours of companionship.

Jackie and I have been married since 1975. Our family has four sons, three of whom are married. They have continued to help us enjoy the magic of Christmas and other special times with 10 grandchildren. At one time, all of "the brothers" (as they call themselves) lived in the south (SC, GA, FL) but two now live in Boulder, one with two children to make sure that Jackie and I have some grandkids nearby in case we need a fix.

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition
Boulder High School Class of 1969*

In the fall of 1969 I headed out east and spent six years at Dartmouth College. In January 1975 I headed out to Washington state with several degrees and knowing that Jackie and I would be married in April. Son number one came after we had moved to Washington, D.C. where I worked with a consulting company. All of the work in the Washingtons was related to alternative energy and much of it is now worthless, but was cutting edge at the time. If you want to know about how to convert coal into substitute natural gas or liquid fuels you should go back to bed and sleep it off. If that does not cure you, ask me for help. In D.C. I had the opportunity to work with fascinating people, including White House staff. Jackie and I moved back to Boulder about 40 years ago and I migrated from energy work to medical devices.

I have been inventing and designing medical devices and other products for over 35 years, almost always as either a consultant or for companies I started. Those activities have led to my being an inventor on over 25 United States patents with others pending. If you have trouble sleeping you can browse a couple of them at <https://teammedical.us/images/patents/US8784327B2.pdf> (Method and system for obtaining dimension related information for a flow channel – this patent describes how to determine the diameter of the ascending aorta by looking at the changing distribution of flow rates as blood flows through the aorta during each heartbeat. Knowing the diameter and flow rate allows non-invasively calculating cardiac output and cardiac power.) and <https://teammedical.us/images/patents/US7806825B2.pdf> (Diagnostic signal processing method and system – the patent describes how to get the distribution of flow rates used in the ‘327 patent by calculating a continuous distribution of the velocities by using a new approach that avoids the problems encountered using the discrete distributions calculated using traditional techniques). Read below for the motivation behind those patents. If you remain awake you can find out more about how I have spent almost four decades inventing and engineering by going to <https://TeamMedical.us>.

Boulder High School Class of 1969*

Jackie has resigned herself to living with an engineer who has what appears to be a congenital work defect. The real problem is that I still like playing and I now have better toys and a bigger sandbox. I have started businesses several times and after completing those activities I have tried retiring and have been an abject failure each time I tried retiring. I have all manner of electronic instruments, machine shop equipment, and laboratory space to design, fabricate, and test prototypes and those activities are great good fun. So, I continue to do engineering and inventing for both other companies and for the business that Jackie and I own. The second floor of our home has been almost entirely converted into laboratory and machine shop space (the rest is basically my office and nap in front of computer screens space). I doubt that I will ever retire. Playing with the toys I have and create is too much fun. I get to learn new things and play with my toys in the sandbox. Much better than having a real job.

Almost every Sunday, Jackie and I go for a long hike (we live next to a path leading to Enchanted Mesa), a nice bike ride (all returns are uphill unless we lose our minds and bike up Flagstaff), or a long walk around town (when the open space paths are muddy or I feel wimpier than usual). For hobbies, read above paragraphs about "working."

I get to see a cardiologist regularly and about every six years an electrophysiologist. The EP doctor probably views me similarly to how a mechanic views a car with an old battery. Every six years the battery in the implanted cardioverter-defibrillator (ICD) wears out and the procedure is to replace the old ICD with a new one. I keep count by the number of scars by the left pectoral muscle. I am on number four. All of that started 20 years ago when a virus invaded and caused an autoimmune response that chopped up very important structural proteins in the myocardium (heart muscle), causing the myocardium to stretch, leading to spontaneous severe heart rhythm changes that lead to ventricular fibrillation and effective pumping of blood stops. The more descriptive name is sudden death and I can attest to the "sudden" part and came close enough to the other part to make me believe that the rest of the term is accurate. Administering a shock with a substantial current through the heart stops ventricular fibrillation by momentarily stopping the heart muscle's cells from contracting, with the hope that a heartbeat returns. That implanted defibrillator administers the shocks, sort of like in the movies where the paddles go down, the person shouts "clear," and the patient briefly levitates when shocked. When the device is implanted the electrodes cause the current to go straight to the myocardium and no one shouts "clear" before the brief levitation. After a couple hundred or so shocks I know what it is like living with the Sword of Damocles.

The trick is to live past the first incident before the defibrillator is implanted. In my case I was exercising at an athletic club when an ambulance was in the vicinity. Now, you see those portable defibrillators on site in airports and other locations. What one really wants to know is whether one is at risk. Hence the work I did on the patents described above. The goal is make it very easy to test whether a person's heart is at risk of having ventricular fibrillation (called sudden death if that is the outcome). That work is still in progress.

CHUCK HILL

From the 20th Reunion Panther Tracks. Submitted by Barbara (Benton) Hill:

In 1970, Chuck married another BHS '69er, Barbara Benton, and they moved to Baltimore in 1971. Chuck immediately began working in civil engineering and construction, and in 1978 he was able to open his own utility construction company. Chuck was the proud father of two sons: Greg, who was born in 1971; and Doug, who was born in 1974. In 1980, Chuck was killed in a motorcycle accident: his children were 6 and 9 years old at the time.

Those who knew Chuck at BHS knew him to be an intelligent, warm and friendly teen-ager; those who knew him as an adult knew him to be the same. His business colleagues looked to him for friendship and advice and he gave of himself to them and to his family. Chuck would be pleased to know that his two sons are successful young men now: Greg is a freshman at Johns Hopkins University, and Doug is a freshman in high school. Chuck's father passed away last year, but his mother continues to live in Boulder.

Unfinished Odyssey

I, Jimmy Hill will not be able to attend the 50 year 1969 Graduation Reunion in Boulder, Colorado because of similar family duties, obligations and responsibilities that also caused me to miss the actual graduating ceremony at Boulder High School. However, this time will be much more enjoyable because my wife Janice and I will be hosting my 99 year old father's birthday July 19th celebrations here in Phoenix, Arizona. Then going on to our annual Saginaw Chippewa Pow Wow in Michigan to be with all the Quigno-Jackson family members.

I am saddened about the passing of so many from our Class of 1969. For most of them, as well as us survivors, we had grown up together in Boulder since early 1950s in childhood elementary grade schools with lots of outside activities and on to Junior High School with its endeavors & afflictions and then arriving at our very own Boulder High School ...Semper Anticus...

Thank You to those who have blessed me with their lives, their Love, their books, their ideas and their Teachings. And so grateful for my wife, Janice Quigno Hill...‘God only knows what I’d be without YOU, God only knows..’.

So, now for those who are curious, on to a few of the memorable moments along the Way...

After graduating I participated in the 1969 Summer National Science Foundation Program at Scripps Institute of Oceanography. I remember a very long private lunch with two mellow intellectuals; the 6 ft 9 inch tall Science Fiction author

Michael Crichton and the medical researcher / polio virologist Jonas Salk at his Biological Studies Institute also in La Jolla, California. And then an incredible SCUBA trip to La Boca, Mexico with fellow classmate (and later FBI field agent at my wedding) D Hendrix. My parents after the Lunar Landing sold our house next to Cathy Long's Iris Gardens and moved to California. (Thank you Cathy for your yearly poetic & informative Christmas newsletters.) Several in our graduating class may remember my father, John Hill, who taught at Baseline Junior High, at the University of Colorado and active with my Boy Scout Troop # 75 where both Martin Ball and I earned the Eagle Scout Award. You might also remember my mother, the Reverend Dorothy Hill, at the 1st Congregational Church on Pine Street and her also teaching Kindergarten at Park Elementary.

You might even remember my brother, Robin Hill, who also went to Boulder High School three years before I did. We were never in the same school at the same time; however we both shared the love of hiking, competitive sports, 4-H agriculture experiences, marching band, Summer YMCA camp in Estes Park and piano music. For decades he has been an advocate for Mental Health in Colorado and actively helping the mentally ill in Pueblo, Colorado as founder of Friendly Harbor who promoted mental wellness by providing a spirit of connection among consumers, family, supporters and community.

By the early 1970s my parents went on to Santa Monica, California where my mother wrote three Bank Street Early Childhood Education books while being the first woman Assistant Minister at the Episcopal St Augustine by the Sea. My father finishing yet another degree, this time in Library Science worked at UCLA Library Reference Department.

During the first 2 years at CU, I started part-time work for the Boulder County Public Health Vector Control Program aiming to prevent the spread of disease from mosquitoes by introducing top feeding minnows into infested ponds. Then work/study cultural anthropology curator of the Yale's Human Relations Area

Files at our Norlin Library. Then I changed my concentration from Alpine mountaineering with long distance running to start running restaurants instead. Starting with managing a tea house in Niwot that had live harp music. Then several friends and I bought the bankrupt Raven Bookstore on Broadway and together we moved the stock & bookcases to the Cherry Creek area of Denver. Transforming a rundown Deli into the eclectic Blue Bird Cafe & Bookstore. My soon to be wife, Janice started cooking in the kitchen serving two eggs, toast and coffee for 49 cents. I started buying and selling rare books from all over the world specializing in Eastern & Western philosophy, Native American and other Esoteric Spiritual traditions.

We had a lot of very interesting people wander into our business including Mystical Sufi poets, singer-songwriter Carole King, Denver Bronco linemen (Bronco's # 7 was then Craig Morton), Silent Contemplative Trappist Monks and Overseas out-of-print book collectors, just to name a few. We then expanded to another restaurant in Estes Park where I hung a bird feeder outside our cabin window in order to observe neotropical migratory birds. After many severe winters together in the Colorado Rockies; we started to look for sunnier climes. Starting with several Christmastimes in Hawaii then later a whirlwind road trip via England, Mont-Saint-Michel in Normandy, France, ending up in Venice. Afterwards in 1983, a 6 month sabbatical in NYC working as floor manager for Himalayan Institute East/West Bookstore that was next door to Andy Warhol on the west side of Lower Manhattan, in Greenwich Village. And then in 1984 Janice & I moved permanently to sunny Arizona and started another bookstore/cafe; the Carefree Blue Bird in yes, Carefree, Arizona north of Phoenix.

My parents moving also in the 1980s to Omaha, Nebraska where mother resumed working as Assistant Minister at the 1st Congregational UCC, while my father worked at Creighton Medical Reference Library. They also experienced very harsh winters there, so they became 'snowbirds' and would spend 100 days each wintertime with us enjoying our books, Janice's homey cooking and the Arizona Sonoran desert warm weather.

2001, while delivering local Phoenix Street Atlases, I was lucky to survive a red light runner hitting my truck just before 9/11. I was also very fortunate to have such a loving and caring wife who quit her job to help me full time battle my way out of a wheelchair. A new library was being built at the same time within walking distance. When I was finally able to walk again, I was hired immediately by the City of Phoenix because of my book knowledge & being bilingual from my trip to Argentina, as well as, those 12 years of Spanish classes. While working at this Desert Broom Branch Library for ten years I was honored by several Service Excellence Awards. And academically culminating with a summa cum laude distinction Baccalaureate from NAU. I was very moved by the symbolic sash presented to me at the same time by the Native American tribes of Arizona. Many of you may be surprised to know that through my father's genealogy, I am an Oklahoma Cherokee Tribal Member. My wife & I took early retirement in order to take care of my Mother who later peacefully died in 2012 and then moved my father locally to a nearby Assisted Living Home run by very caring family from the Transylvania area of Romania.

I retired from working 17 years at Walmart, in January 2019. Most spent as a Dept. Manager. Am looking forward to lots of changes happening soon. In fact that is why I will not be attending, even though I really want to. After 68 years living in Boulder and Fort Collins I am moving to Texas! Before you question my sanity, let me tell you a little more. My husband David passed away in 2014. My son Lucas moved in with me to help with his care and has stayed on. My daughter Emily lives in Richardson with her hubby Don, and my only grandbaby Francesca. They have a very profitable photography business which I have an opportunity to be a part of. The Dallas metro area has a healthy arts community which I am excited to be a part of. Lucas and I will be moving the weekend of the reunion. My address will obviously be changing, just not certain exactly where. I will definitely miss catching up with "you all"!

After 20-some years in the music business, my wife Annie and I left California in 1991 in order to raise our new daughter in a better place:

Louisville. Once that was accomplished, we moved in 2012 to a beautiful ranch in the Plateau Valley north of Grand Mesa, otherwise known as the Middle of Nowhere. We have built a greenhouse and started an organic farm. We are still in love, and this summer we'll celebrate our 43rd anniversary. Our daughter Erin Rose and her husband were married at Chautauqua last summer; they live in Montreal and are professional musicians. We can't seem to convince them of their mistake. (Only joking, we are extremely proud.) Life is good!

I started in the real estate appraisal business in 1980. We were real busy during the run-up of the early 2000's. By 2009, our last high school reunion, we were busy with the real estate crash. It was 90% foreclosure work which meant I spent too much time in court testifying about failed loans. Fatiguing. October 2013 was a big month for me. On the 1st I sold Metro Appraisals Inc., on the 5th our daughter got married to a wonderful man and on the 27th my dad passed. He was 90. He'd had a full life.

I spent a lot of time reading with our Bichon dog in my lap, napping and traveling. I retired completely from the appraisal business in 2015. I'm still engaged in various projects but nothing stressful. Easy does it. Living in gratitude.

Carolyn Jones

Became a departed panther in 1975.

CAROLYN JONES

From the 20th Reunion Panther Tracks. Submitted by her mother, Ruth Jones.

Carolyn attended CU one year, then went to a geology camp in the summer, and transferred to Iowa State University, graduating in 1973 with majors in geology and education. She married another ISU student, James Eiler. They moved to Stanwood, Iowa and Carolyn was teaching math in the Tipton, Iowa high school.

On April 9, 1975, on an icy morning, Carolyn's car collided with a truck and she died instantly. A memorial service was held in Tipton, and many students and other faculty spoke very well of Carolyn's cheerful personality and her care in helping individual students.

John and I live about half time at our home in The Village at Castle Pines and half time in Steamboat Springs. The summer and fall are my favorite seasons in the mountains!

We love to travel and we have a fairly long bucket list of destinations yet to be explored!

Our greatest joy is spending time with our six grandkids - ages one to fifteen. We are truly blessed!

From July 1969 to January 1990, I served as a Hospital Corpsman and Preventive Medicine Technician in the Navy. I retired from the Navy in January, 1990 and went to work as a civil servant in the Armed Forces Medical Intelligence Center (AFMIC) at Fort Detrick, MD (memorialized--if inaccurately--in the movie Outbreak).

AFMIC became part of the Defense Intelligence Agency in 1992 and I continued working at that agency in various capacities until the end of 2017. The highlight of my service was probably a three-year stint as Visiting Professor and Chair of Defense Intelligence at the U.S. Army War College.

I became a grandfather in 2013 and, since retiring from the U.S. Government, plan to make being "Grandpa Denis" my next career.

I loved teaching and subbing 28+ years in elementary and middle school. I am enjoying retirement, especially when friends and family are around...and when the Colorado meteorologists try to make us believe we will not survive a normal snowstorm. I just stay in and watch it from my lazy chair. Life is good! Current motto: "Gray Pride: We're old. We're tired. Get off our lawn!"

I would love to attend the reunion however, my daughter's wedding is also on July 20th. She is the youngest of my three children and the first to marry.

I have had a great life and I was so blessed to have been married to Christopher McNamara for almost 30 years. Shortly before we both retired from teaching in Westminster, he passed away from leukemia. After my husband passed away I continued teaching for several years in Denver Public Schools.

I finally retired after 37 years of teaching special needs students. I don't miss the paperwork, the meetings, and the long commute but I do miss working with my students.

Now that I am retired, I am learning some new skills now doing many of the activities I enjoyed in high school and college.

I still live in Boulder and I live in Arizona for about four months during the winter where I spend lots of time in the pottery and glass arts studio, playing pickleball, water volleyball, taking my golden doodle to the dog park, learning to line dance, exercising and making many new friends from all over the US and Canada.

While back in Boulder, I spend time with my family, friends, my dog, and volunteering with hospice and my church. I enjoy traveling and visiting friends.

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition

I hope to spend more time this summer traveling here in Colorado, visiting a friend and exploring Vancouver Island.

I will miss seeing everyone at the reunion but I know that will be having a wonderful time at my daughter's wedding.

I spent the 1970s in and out of college at CU Boulder. When I finally realized I'd make a lot more money with a degree in Accounting, I moved back in with Mom and Dad to finish the last two years of my coursework. It was interesting being in the Business School as my father was a professor there and many of the other professors I had for classes had known me since I was born. I even had Dad for a class. Talk about pressure!

The 1980s started with a move to San Diego for my first accounting job. After a couple of years, I moved back to Boulder and worked at various jobs before earning my CPA license in 1986. In the mid-80s I started playing golf and married a fellow golfer in 1987. Since golf was our shared passion, we tied the knot in St. Andrews, Scotland, the honorary birthplace of golf. While we were there, we played The Old Course, Royal Troon, Turnberry, Largs, and Carnoustie (in gale force winds). In 1989 I took a part time job at the CU Law School to supplement my accounting practice. This job led to bigger and better things in the 90s!

In the 1990s, my husband and I returned to Scotland in 1991, this time to play the highlands. We spent several days at Royal Dornock, then played Brora, Wick, and Nairn. It was our last big golf outing as he died in 1995. The part time job at the Law School turned into a full-time position as Budget Officer and Chief of Staff in 1996. It was the beginning of the 20 years I worked for the University.

The early 2000s brought romance back into my life! I met Doug in 2000 and lucky for me he's a golfer! He's from California so we had many trips to visit family and the Napa Valley for great wine and food. We married in January 2004, then my beloved mother died right before I became Bursar for the Boulder campus, and we moved to Westminster. Marrying Doug was the best day of my life. The next best day was when I had a hole in one at Fossil Trace in Golden during one of the worst rounds I've ever played!

In September 2016 Doug and I retired. He had a long career as Chief Financial Officer in both the transportation and import sectors. In late September 2017 we took a trip to western North Carolina to visit one of my sisters. I fell in love with the area and gently persuaded Doug to move there. We hired a realtor, looked at houses on line, and sent my sister to look at promising listings. We put an offer on a house in Cummings Cove Golf and Country Club that we hadn't seen in person. It was the best decision we've ever made (other than getting married). By mid-December 2017 we had moved to Hendersonville in the Blue Ridge Mountains. We own a golf cart that we drive all over the gated community as well as the golf course and have many new friends. We've found paradise!

The church choir went on tour to Scotland and England where we performed in several cathedrals and saw much of the country from London to Isle of Iona in Scotland.

Currently I am active in the IOOF Rebekah lodge at the local, district, state, and international level holding several offices and serving on several committees over the last 35 yrs. I was co-director of the planning of the Colorado IOOF and Rebekah state meeting for 3 years. I am currently the secretary for the local lodge. For 5 yrs. I have been in the IOOF IARA international choir for their annual meetings.

In 1976 the Boulder High School marching band had a trip to the Orange Bowl in Orlando and in 1980 they went to Mexico City where they performed in both places which I was one of the adult chaperones for both trips. Over the last 50 yrs. I have traveled to 4 countries and 27 states including D.C. I never married but am an aunt to two nephews and one niece. Also I was one of the caregivers for both of my parents and a grandparent until their deaths. I enjoy gardening, traveling, doing crafts, being with friends and family, and reading.

After high school I started at CU, when a car accident and subsequent injury put the education on hold. I married in my mid-twenties and had two boys, but that was a short-lived marriage. A second marriage in my late twenties to a Navy man lasted 30 years and produced an adopted daughter. As a result of my three children I now have seven grandchildren and a great granddaughter.

The 22 year career that lasted during our various moves with the Navy was working in an environmental laboratory performing hazardous waste analysis. During that time I finally finished my education, a BS in Environmental Engineering and an MBA focusing on Project Management.

We landed in Arizona after my ex-husband retired where I worked for 8 years at a copper mine as a mining health and safety trainer before I came back to Colorado in late 2014.

I tried retirement, but discovered that I am not ready to give up my passion, safety training, just yet. So I am currently with the Colorado School of Mines working in a program that trains people in industry before they work on a mine site. I absolutely love what I am doing just now, but don't intend to work beyond age 70, so roughly 3 more years before I hang it up.

After graduation, I went off to Oberlin College in Ohio, along with BHS classmates Pat Hubbard, Dorothy Crow, and Lynn Walker. Thanks to BHS German teacher Bill Cline for recommending Oberlin. I thought I was interested in sociology and literature but found those subjects difficult. When I took physics 2nd semester, it seemed much easier. Have been doing physics ever since. Also picked up interest in music (listening, not playing), photography and backpacking. I returned to Boulder for a PhD at CU. Then a 2-year postdoc at the Center for Astrophysics in Cambridge, MA. Met my future wife, Judy Feins on an Appalachian Mountain Club weekend excursion.

We moved together to Oakland, CA for a job at Lawrence Livermore Lab. I am still working there, having recently cut back to 1/2 time as a transition to retiring. I have worked on research in astrophysics and laser physics.

We now live in Orinda, CA. Judy is devoting full time to painting, mainly landscapes. We have two daughters, both within a 2-hour drive, after living away for many years. Our oldest is getting married in September. In our spare time we enjoy museums, music, hiking and visiting daughter and friends. I still like skiing, both in Lake Tahoe region and recently on trips to other western ski areas. I look forward to reconnecting with Boulder classmates.

Probably not many (or any?) of my classmates live in the same house they grew up in. Not only do I live in the same house, but I do the same work I did as a kid. I've been fortunate to be able to carry on the family iris business, Long's Gardens, www.longsgardens.com. We are celebrating our 114th year in business here in Boulder and 103 years on our same farm on Broadway.

I did journey away from the farm for a few years. After graduating from CU Boulder in 1973, I married fellow CU geography major, Dennis Gates, in 1974. While Dennis was a pilot in the Air Force we lived in Lubbock, Texas; Altus, Oklahoma and Tacoma, Washington. Dennis continued his life in the sky as a commercial pilot, the last 20 years at Frontier Airlines. His flying career gave us the opportunity for some travels to the UK, Italy, Australia and New Zealand. These days we are pretty well "grounded" at the farm.

I've served as Secretary/Treasurer of the Silver Lake Ditch for many years. Water resources, soil health, historic preservation and climate change are some of my major interests – not too surprising for a farmer. I recharge and relax with a good book, a movie, or a quiet walk.

Over the years our 25 acre farm has become completely encircled by urban development. We've been working for the last 12 years or so to have the city purchase a conservation easement on our property, which would keep it from ever being developed and allow the agricultural uses to continue.

Besides being the home to our family iris business the farm also serves as the home to two wonderful non-profits, Growing Gardens and Mountain Flower Goat Dairy. These two organizations serve to educate people of all ages about growing food, animal husbandry and sustainable agriculture.

We never got around to having any children but we look at the farm and the people served by these non-profits as the next generation.

Robert C. Lundeen passed away on January 16, 2018 at Boulder Community Hospital. He was 67 years old. He was born on October 20, 1950 in Burlington, Iowa, the son of Eugene Carl Lundeen and Loretta Helen (Bohemann). Bob's family moved to Glenwood Springs, CO in 1955 and later relocated to Boulder, CO in 1958. Bob graduated from Boulder High School in 1969 and went on to earn a Business/Finance degree from the University of Colorado-Boulder in 1973. Before beginning a career in the oil and gas industry, Bob pursued his passion for skiing while living and working in Vail, CO. In addition to spending time with his family and beloved "old boys", Bob enjoyed hiking, skiing, camping, tennis and handball. He was a loyal fan of the Buffs, Broncos and Rockies. Bob was also a long-time member of the Boulder Valley Rotary Club, where he served as President for a period of time. He proudly contributed to countless community service projects in and around Boulder for many years. On August 23, 1980 Bob married Rose (Ripple) in the backyard of their newly purchased home in Boulder. Shortly after, they welcomed three children, Sam, Jens & Lisa. Bob took great pride in the family home, which he helped build. The home continued to be a gathering place for his family until his passing. Bob's son (Sam), sister (Vicki), spouse (Rose) and mother (Loretta) preceded him in death. Bob is survived by his father Eugene; son Jens and wife Lesley; daughter Lisa Kassaii and husband Neema; sister Rita Dart and husband Doug; and grandchildren Ellie & Mollie Lundeen, and Leila & Era Kassaii. Bob was also excited to be welcoming a fifth granddaughter in February.

My husband Chet and I are still active real estate brokers in San Francisco, operating independently as Buena Vista Realty, which is approaching its 43rd anniversary. We are glad to have both of our children living nearby: Amanda moved back to San Francisco three years ago after an eight-year stint in Portland, OR, and Chet and his family live about 45 miles from us in the East Bay. Amanda works in the finance industry, and Chet is an air traffic controller. We have two grandchildren: Alana is 5 (going on 15) and Chet IV, who was born 101 years to the day after his original namesake, is 3! We enjoy seeing them, especially during football season, when the whole Williams clan gets together for all of the Cal home games (Go Bears!). We just spent several weeks in France visiting Paris, Normandy and some of the countryside and its fabulous wineries. I look forward to seeing everyone again!

Lived in SoCal for many years, raised two children, one in San Francisco and the other in Philadelphia, two grandchildren. Married Bill Applegate in 1991. Worked for several civil engineering firms in SoCal as a graphic designer/drafter. After the last recession, we decided it was time to leave Redlands and move to our rental property in Ennis, MT. It's a great place to live, quite the opposite from SoCal and the wind and winters can get a bit cold, nice to snowbird it sometimes!! It's a world of hunting, fishing, boating, hiking, county fairs, rodeos, etc, quite the opposite of SoCal and so beautiful! We've traveled a bit and enjoyed seeing the world. I started a small needle felting business called "Felt So Fine" and make gifts and sell to local gift shops. Keeps me busy and out of trouble! Party on without me!

Left Colorado in 1969. Hitchhiked to California. Met long haired drug dealer. Hung out with him 13 years. Had lots of fun. Had 2 kids. Divorced the drug dealer before I ended up in jail....really didn't want to go there! Meet a carpenter at the local bar.....much safer. Instant love. He built us a nice house in Northern California. Started 3 Thrift Stores.....then sold them and retired before everyone and their brother started a thrift store. The 2 kids had kids. Now I spend a lot of time creating 'Dreamy Spirit Catchers'.....I call them that because they reflect my life so far....dreamy and full of spirit. You can visit my FB page #trishaaitkenfiberart.

Still married to my High School sweetheart (who graduated from Fairview High School class of '69). I'm bringing him along because he spent more of his high school years at BHS seeing me, than attending his classes at FHS.

We have two grown boys (Noah and Schuyler) both married and living in Boulder County, and two grandsons (Bram & Berg). I have been the Teaching Leader for over 30 years for the international Ministry of Bible Study Fellowship in Boulder. Other interests over the years - camping and many white water raft trips down the Colorado River along with road trips with the family.

And I'm still singing. Unfortunately, not so much at weddings but more at funerals these days. But one of my sweetest joys is singing for my grandsons and giving them the love of music.

Fifty years. Time has slipped into the future, no? Steve Miller, that musical sage, also told us tomorrow was our saving grace.

It's humbling to read what everyone has accomplished but also sad to read of the lives cut short.

As for me, at some date, I realized that it was too late to figure out what I wanted to be when I grew up because I had gotten old. It was a relief. Despite my inability to add or subtract I had managed to keep track of our personal and business finances for a long time by then and could call myself a "bookkeeper."

I've been married to my husband Mark for 48 years, because, I like to joke, neither one of us has found a better deal. Our children have grown up, left home, grown up some more, and now barely need us. Of course there's always a troop of pets who need us a little too much.

We've spent the last 30 years in the Florida swampy woods. However, Alternate-Universe Lynne is still in Fort Collins, eating at decent restaurants, hiking mountain trails, and riding around town on a bike. Who has never experienced the stress and inconvenience of a hurricane or observed the many-splendored varieties of Florida cockroaches, the atmospheric Spanish-moss-draped trees. Who could maybe compose a sentence without so many hyphens.

Susan Neavor

Became a departed panther in 1968.

From the 20th Reunion Panther Tracks. Submitted by her mother, Martha Neavor:

Deceased on Feb. 28, 1968. One of Susan's "trademarks" was her lovely red hair. Perhaps that's where she got her fiery loyalty to her friends. Like so many teenagers, she enjoyed swimming at Boulder Reservoir, roller-skating, and especially horseback riding. Susan also loved animals and always had lots of pets. She talked of someday becoming a veterinarian. However, this dream was not be, as Susan died in February of her junior year in a car accident between Nederland and Boulder.

Compiled from Dan's obituary:

Daniel Edward Nykamp passed away at his home on January 25, 2015. He was born in Grand Rapids, Michigan on October 14, 1950. He was an amazing father; grandfather, brother, friend and man. Dan was a simple man. He enjoyed watching sports, barbequing, fishing, camping, and most importantly, being surrounded by his friends and family he held dear. An accomplished stonemason, former owner of Greeley Pools and Spa, and farmer, Dan was a man of many talents. Those who knew Dan will attest that he was always welcoming, forgiving, honest, and incredibly loving to his family and friends. He had open arms and an open mind to anyone who entered his home. Dan is survived by his sons, Wyatt Nykamp and Derek Nykamp, both of Greeley; and his daughter, Amanda Nykamp of Lake Mary, Fla.; his grandson Dante Villano-Nykamp; and his siblings, Carl Nykamp of Idaho Falls, Idaho, Beverly Welch of Howells, Neb., Dick Nykamp of Loveland, and Robert Nykamp of Louisville. Hello BHS Classmates. I just had a dream about one of you and felt inspired to add a note to the Panther Tracks. A current interest is Jungian psychology so that makes sense, right?

Some facts and figures:

Finished undergrad in music at CU. Went to grad school at U of Redlands in S California then on to U of MI. 10 years total studying music at several colleges. Good grief.

Married to the same guy since 1981. We have 2 grown children; no grandchildren. I was lucky raising kids at a time when I did not have to work and I loved immersing in family life.

I teach piano in my private studio which has been a great gig for the last decade or so. I live in what's called the Five-College area of Western Massachusetts (Smith, Mt Holyoke, Amherst College, UMass and Hampshire College) so there is no shortage of parents who value music lessons for their kids. Personally I enjoy giving small piano concerts every year or so. The piano literature is a treasure I've come to appreciate much more as I've aged.

My mom still owns that house up on Sunset Blvd. and my sister Barb and brothers live in the Boulder-Denver area so I've seen the crazy changes all over town.

JOHN PADDOCK

Compiled from John's obituary:

John R. Paddock, Jr. May 25, 1951-October 14, 2012
John Paddock's life was too short and too hard, but he lived it with grace, courage and humor and he is already sorely missed by all who were blessed to call him father, husband, brother, nephew, cousin, friend, or colleague. John died on October 14, 2012 as the direct result of a stroke, and as an indirect result of the cancer which proved too much even for his indomitable spirit. John was born 61 years ago in Boulder, to parents Kathleen (formally Alice Kathleen Andrew) and John R. Paddock, Sr., attended Boulder

High School and the University of Colorado.

After a stint teaching outside the state, he returned to attend law school at the University of Colorado in Boulder. John excelled as a law student, achieving the coveted title of Editor of the Law Review and earning a clerkship with a federal judge on the 10th Circuit Court of Appeals. At the same time, as he would do throughout his professional career, John put his family first, caring for his aging grandmother, Annie Laurie Paddock, and enabling her to stay in her home during her last years. His scholarly work will stand as a fitting memorial to his intelligence, dedication and pragmatism. The law was only one of John's many talents and interests. He loved being on a bicycle, working in the garden, traveling, skiing, and having his favorite dog on his lap. He was very musical, and a great athlete. Perhaps he was such a gentle and wonderful man because he had two older sisters, Kitty (Thompson) and Judy (Cloyd), who were integral parts of his life from the moment he was born until the day he died. Their mother, Kathleen (formally Alice Kathleen Andrew Paddock) died when John was only 6, so if not for Kitty and Judy, John might never have been housebroken. (John was also wickedly funny). John's greatest gift was his wife, Catherine, who was by his side as he passed. John previously was married to Dee (Hubbard) Paddock, with whom he adopted three children: Cortney, Turner and Cody. John is preceded in death by his parents, John Sr. and Kathleen Paddock, and a child, Sara Kathleen Paddock, who was born and died on December 6, 1986.

I entered CU in the fall of 1969 as much to delay getting drafted as for any desire to learn. My first 2 years were a difficult adjustment as I had to, at that late date, actually learn how to learn. Gradually it all came together resulting in a Bachelors in geology in 1973 and Masters in geology in 1977.

I met and married Lisa (1976) and on graduation, we moved to Grand Junction for 4 years. In 1981, we capped our west slope experience with the birth of twin boys and moved the 1-month olds back to the Golden area to start a new job. In 1984, we had our 3rd son and decided that 3 was the perfect number.

Most of my career was focused on gold (and other minerals) exploration and we mostly managed to weather the dramatic ups and downs of the commodity business. Work was initially focused in central and western Colorado then gradually expanded westward through Utah, Nevada, California and then Arizona, Montana and Idaho. Over time, job changes brought new geography including Mexico, Ecuador, Romania, Uzbekistan, Australia, Indonesia and finally a tour of Canada from Quebec to British Columbia.

One of the highlights of my work was managing a helicopter-supported camp among the glaciers of northern BC and hiring my twin sons (the youngest son was at that point banned from Canada after way overstaying his visa to ski and work in Whistler, BC) to sample cliff faces hanging from ropes with a gas-powered rock saw. It was high adventure including many bears and dramatic helicopter exploits.

Mineral exploration is an odd business affording exotic travels, a wild diversity of people and unique access to many remote parts of the world. Among the more memorable events, I recall 5 separate times being held at gun-point. Those unpleasant experiences were offset so many times by breathtaking generosity and kindness from people with almost nothing but their meager clothing and surviving cheerfully in conditions that we can hardly imagine.

During one of the deeper slow periods in the exploration business, my company lost its funding and I found an opportunity to pursue a path that had always been just an improbable dream – to be a teacher. Some bravado, salesmanship and two weeks of training landed me, as teacher, in a 7th grade science classroom with 150 of the not GT students. The students provided most of the learning that year and the teacher, to his credit and desire to survive, realized that teaching should be just a 1 year vocational sidetrack. Teaching was followed by 4 years buying future park lands for Jefferson County Open Space and I can see and appreciate some of my work from our house.

From 2008 through about 2015 found me consulting for several small companies and spending nearly half of my time working out of Vancouver. As those groups all gradually faded away, I made a fairly graceful transition to retirement.

My wife Lisa did an amazing job of being an almost single parent during my travels and thankfully had the patience and good will to stick with me through all of the changes.

We have 3 grand kids who keep us busy, excited and growing and rock climbing, hiking and lots of home projects round out my “this must be a dream” schedule.

their beloved postal carrier, Steve Schreiber. The two eventually met, and the rest was history! Sally and Steve married a year later and began a very happy life together as husband and wife, as well as best friends. From time to time, they returned to visit the Boulder area. Playing with Sally's grandchildren in the fountains on the Pearl Street Mall was always a highlight.

Sally began to struggle with health issues, mostly stemming from her life-long battle with asthma. Finally, on July 6, 2016, Sally passed away quietly in her sleep.

Submitted by Steve Schreiber, Sally's husband:*

“Bubbly” and “out-going” were two words that described Sally all her life, not just during her years at Boulder High. After high school, Sally set off for California, where she met and married Harvey Nevins. They had a daughter who, now decades later, lives with her husband and two children in nearby Lyons, CO. Business took Sally and Harvey to Tucson, AZ, where they later divorced.

Sally became the manager of a seniors' mobile home park. Several of those residents insisted that Sally introduce herself to

At her celebration-of-life service, Steve reminded Sally's friends and family that Sally "never met a stranger." He said, "She weighed 95 pounds—and her big heart accounted for at least 90 of them!"

Panthers Arise!

There's a whole herd of cattle down at Fred's just waitin' to be pounced on.

Sneak quietly (in good Panther fashion) across from the courthouse. (Be careful you don't get run over by an Impala, Mustang, Cobra or Barracuda. There's lots of 'em on Pearl Street.) Just howl a little when you come in; we'll know you want a steak. Your kitten will purr when you feed her at Fred's.

Became a departed panther in 1997.

From the 30th Reunion Panther Tracks. Submitted by Don's wife Anne Randall:

Don sold insurance for several years before getting into the construction business in Greeley. His daughter from his first marriage, Shauna, now has two children of her own. Don married Anne Randall and had two more children, John and Sarah. He enjoyed playing the guitar, writing poetry, and helping with Boy Scouts. Anne described Don as "lots of fun and good to his friends".

On March 21, 1997, Don died of a heart attack. His ashes were scattered over the mountains he loved.

Also from the 30th Reunion Panther Tracks is the following Reflection submitted by Daniel Renlund:

you could always make them laugh
no matter your actions, be they good or bad the plus or the minuses, in the life that you had whether you left us, happy or sad

the chuckles & chortles, that you could make could wipe the gloom, from a desperate man's face
the humor that came, from deep in your heart you would be on your way, but leave a small part

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition

with the short life you had you may have left too much

the final gathering started, started with tears
first smiles then laughter, grew to reach all ears
a bottle was passed, in your memory
the knowing of you was never for free

the final count, in our mountains was made your ashes were spread, but you will never fade
when my time comes I wish they could say
I kept them laughing, laughter never goes away

don we should all be envious of your epitaph
for you could always make them laugh

Gary Rippberger

Became a departed panther in 2015.

Steve Roach

Became a departed panther in 2010.

STEVE ROACH

A tribute from others does not exist for Steven Roach. Following is the biographical sketch that Steven Roach submitted for the 30th Reunion Panther Tracks. It forcefully speaks to his character and strengths.

To my Classmates and Fellow Graduates:

In 1968 and 1969, I was your classmate -- the one who you observed from a distance but didn't want to get to know. To you, I seemed aloof, angry and unapproachable -- I was probably the wrong element, the guy who grew up on the wrong side of the tracks. Unbeknownst to you, I was begging for someone, anyone to reach out and want to get to know me, to find out that I was really a good person and a quality human being.

I did get to know one underclassman, who ultimately, at age 16, became my wife and the mother of two of my wonderful children. I was 17 and desperate to be loved and to love someone. I found comfort in this relationship because I wasn't successful in attracting any other friends among you. You couldn't have known my plight, after all you had your own lives to lead - growing up in Boulder in the 1960's presented many challenges and you were all preoccupied in your own worlds.

When I was age 16, my father and his wife asked the juvenile court system to intervene in my life in an effort to prevent me from choosing the wrong direction. I was adjudged incorrigible and made a ward of the State of Colorado - I became a young man without a family. You did not know that each day I arrived at school from the Boulder Juvenile Attention Home. For a two week period, I was incarcerated in the Boulder County Jail and was released each morning to go to school only to return to my 6 foot by 10 foot cell each day after school. You were unaware that I did my homework each day under the shadows of walls consisting of bars. Had you known, would it have made any difference? Probably not. I was guilty of not being loved and I had to pay the price.

It would be unfair for me to say that no one cared, because during the 9 months I spent in the Attention Home, the house parents came to believe enough in me and to want more for me. Despite my anger and my lack of trust, they ultimately convinced me to consider living in a foster home. I overcame my reluctance and my fears and was welcomed into the England family where I lived for the final months of my junior year and until I completed High School in January, 1969. I gained a loving, caring family and for the first time in a long time, I sensed that someone really did want to get to know me and understand me. I regained some sense of worth and value.

I did not participate in the commencement exercises with the rest of you which is the cause for our thirty year celebration this summer. I needed to be removed from the school environment that seemed to me to be cold and distant - it offered me no solace. I took television credit courses during the summer of 1968 sufficient to enable me to boast enough credits to graduate at semester break of my senior year. I'll always remember the day that I sat before the then Assistant Principal, Mr. Ware, when he advised me that despite my accomplishments, I would not be able to graduate a semester early because Colorado law required six complete semesters of high school to meet graduation requirements. My need and desire for freedom was too strong and I proceeded to obtain a court order from the then presiding Boulder County Juvenile Judge, Horace B. Holmes, and was ultimately permitted to graduate early in January, 1969.

I was never supposed to make it to graduation and receive a High School diploma. I certainly was not expected to obtain a college degree. Undoubtedly, I was destined for a life of crime and habitual incarceration. I wasn't ever going to amount to anything -- I had chosen the wrong path in life. The mistakes I had made obviously predestined me to be unsuccessful. Although my adult life has not been without trials and tribulations, I am pleased with my life accomplishments. After graduation from Boulder High School, I spent time in the United States Army during the Vietnam era. I went on to receive an undergraduate degree from the University of Colorado in 1975. I have been a practicing accountant and CPA for the past 24 years. But my most measurable accomplishment is that I have four wonderful, healthy children. My two oldest children are college graduates and my two high school sons are doing very well. I truly have a lot to be grateful for. I am certain that beyond my life that my four offspring will make positive and valuable contributions to society and will lead productive and meaningful lives.

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition

Why am I recalling all of these events now? My thoughts have been triggered not only because of our upcoming thirty year reunion but also because of the recent tragedy at Columbine High school. I have been struggling with how any human being can make a choice to inflict physical harm on another human being. I have never understood the existence of child abuse or domestic abuse or any other form of afflicting physical harm except in an act of self defense. I can not accept that society or the schools or that parents are to be blamed for the egregious acts of violence that are taking place among our youth today. We cannot excuse these behaviors on the basis of the lack of love and nurturing nor because of peer rejection or ridicule. I believe that every individual makes choices of their own free will and that they are capable of rising above adversity. I've been there. I've done that. So why then are we seemingly confronted on an ongoing basis with these adversities? Why do our youth feel compelled to act out violently and with selfish disregard?

I don't have the answers and I don't think that anybody does. Undoubtedly there are many factors that come into play and there is no one solution to this continuing problem. However, I for one believe that we as a society are far too quick to provide societal excuses for this kind of behavior. We add fuel to the fire by openly and continually shifting the blame from the individual to insurmountable events that forged the character of these youth over which they had no control. We seemingly provide license for these unacceptable behaviors by casting the blame on anything and anyone but the perpetrator. They accept the fact that they are victims of circumstance and are obviously being driven by the external influences. We need to shift their thought processes back to analyzing their own character and morals and values and integrity and away from the actions and behaviors of those around them.

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition

We live in a nation that provides significant opportunities for everyone. Where have we failed as a society in projecting to our youth the tremendous opportunity they have for success and happiness? In an age where divorce and litigation are far too prevalent, we are projecting an image that there is change around every corner. Life is just one unforeseen event after another. There is no stability in life. What is left to aspire for when fate snatches away our best intentions at every intersection in life? We might as well react to our circumstances today rather than strive to improve life's direction when so much seems to be out of our control and impossible to predict. We need to reestablish the premise that individuals can and do have the ability to exercise control over their lives and futures and that instant gratifications are not more important than building a foundation for a lifetime.

My heart and soul go out to all of those most directly affected by the Columbine High School tragedy. I feel bad for their pain and suffering, for their unrecoverable losses. Forgive me for ever having felt sorry for myself for the events in my life for I have never felt the pain they feel now. If I could I would erase these disastrous events from their lives because no one deserves their plight. I hope that life will provide some opportunity for their emotional healing.

Ken Rose

Became a departed panther in 2012.

KEN ROSE

Compiled from Ken's obituary:

Kenneth Donald Rose, son of Donald Kenneth Rose and Patricia Paulson Rose, passed away Monday, Sept. 17, 2012.

Ken was born in Palo Alto, Calif., on Oct. 10, 1950, was raised in Idaho Falls, Idaho, and led a life of adventure. Most recently, Kenneth worked for Fort Knox Gold Mine in Fairbanks as safety trainer, 2007-2010.

Ken graduated from Boulder High School, Boulder Colo., in 1969. He served in the U.S. Army from 1969 to 1979, in the Merchant Marine from 1979 to 1984, and the Army and Alaska Air National Guard, from 1986 to 2007, holding many vehicle maintenance and environmental positions and traveling all over the world. He was a Vietnam and Iraq war veteran who served his nation and state honorably. There was hardly any place on the planet he hadn't visited or knew some details about.

Ken enjoyed gunsmithing and explosives, skiing, hiking and hunting. He loved Alaska, moving there first in the early 1970s and again in 1985 and enjoyed teaching newcomers about the various living things unique to the land. He had a generous spirit, giving back to active military members, whether in line at the commissary or shoppette, by paying for their purchases or contributing to various charities. Most of all, he adored his children.

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition
Boulder High School Class of 1969*

Ken was a Master Mason from North Pole Lodge No. 16, F&AM of Alaska and a Noble of Alaska Shrine Temple of Alaska.

He is survived by his fiancée, friend and caregiver until the end, Adrienne Jewell; father, Donald Kenneth Rose; three children, William Henry Rose of Gilbert, Ariz., and Donald Kenneth Rose and Patricia Elizabeth Rose, both of Palmer, Alaska; a daughter-in-law, Patricia Rose; one grandchild, Miguel Rose both of Gilbert, Ariz. and a sister, Katherine Mayo of Manassas, Va.

I retired from the Larimer County WIC program in 2014 after working there for 23 years. It was time. I love to quilt, so spend much of my time sewing. My husband, Dean, finally retired this year (his 3rd). My oldest son and his wife of 20 years, Marc and Christy, have four children. Ages 19, 12, 9 and 7. My youngest son, Curt, and his wife, Kelsey, had a Florida destination wedding in 2017. He has 2 daughters, 12 and 7. Dean and I own a home in Iron Belt, WI. So we summer there and winter here.

Clay Safford

Became a departed panther in 1988.

CLAY SAFFORD

Submitted by Bob Perry:

A NOTE IN MEMORY OF EDWARD CLAY SAFFORD 1950-1988.

Clay Safford died on March 12, 1988. I often think of Clay, and this time we have chosen to reunite, think back, take stock, and look forward seems a fitting opportunity to say a few things about his influence on my life. I try to recognize and grasp the lessons that life offers, and Clay's death, after a friendship of 35 years, continues to be a lesson about living and the priorities I steer by. Perhaps at some level Clay knew he didn't have 70 years to figure it all out. He learned quickly and met life head on with courage and faith. Looking back, I think he had a good handle on life as early as junior high, although it is only recently that I have begun to really recognize his wisdom.

As I learn more, I marvel at how powerfully Clay moved through the world. He managed to see and live by a set of standards that were his own and that most of us would find difficult to top. Clay traveled the globe, created businesses, tinkered in farming, worked at odd jobs and could with equal ease garner the love and respect of heads of state or the elderly lady next door. He possessed a warm and keen humor that was at once charming and humble. He managed to live the concept of personal liberty - of being, doing and having what he chose to be, do or have at any time.

Clay touched the lives of so many and I think all of us remember him with warmth and deep respect. I find it difficult to define what qualities Clay possessed that were so powerful. Perhaps it was his independence tempered by a real caring for others. Or maybe it was his often irreverent sense of humor. Whatever it was, Clay will always remain a very special person to me. I sometimes sense his presence, chuckling in knowing humor at the detours I so often seem to take. It is easy to hear his banter offering a better perspective than I am capable of seeing at the time.

In the last months of his life, Clay struggled heroically with his fatigue and discomfort and maintained a delightful attitude. His calm and good humor in the face of a losing battle was a testament to his great courage. It is my hope that all of us can achieve Clay's level of wisdom and mastery of life at an early enough point to laugh at our trials and spread some good will in the world.

Clay loved life and flowed with its currents with a sense of trust and adventure. He seemed to regard the end of this life as one more part of a great journey. Clay, I am sure, sends love and a laughing warm challenge to us all as we take this time to reflect. He serves as a reminder to me that the numbers say that age 35-40 is half-time in the game of life. The second half is starting and it will go more quickly than the first has.

Even more importantly, none of us have any better guarantee than Clay that we will get all of our 75-80 years to master the game. We can learn from Clay's example and begin today to move toward that life we dream of. We all have a wonderful opportunity to be better players in this game, as difficult and confusing as it often seems. I wish for myself and you that we can meet this greatest of all adventures with love, excitement, courage and humor in honor of ourselves and Clay.

After a delayed exit from BHS, I spent time at Metro St & Colo. Institute of Art. While at the CIA I worked for Neusteters building props for displays which led to a career in the Exhibits and Trade show industry. Productions include State, National Park visitor centers, traveling exhibits for the Solar Industries, major companies- Coke, Reebok, Panasonic, GP, GM among the many. A nuclear control room and a few simulators, Ebcot, Universal Studios were a few fun jobs. Along the way I contracted many side cabinet jobs, custom furniture, model making, plastic fabrication, mold making and prototypes.

I spent 10 yrs. in Denver, 18 in Atlanta, 7 in Tampa, 12 in St. George, UT before returning to western Colorado to retire and have fun doing creative arts and Splinterpicking.

All is good, Peace

My wife of 38 years, Alice, and I have both been retired for awhile now and are enjoying a much more relaxed lifestyle. We purchased a travel trailer and have spent a fair amount of time traveling around most of the western US, mainly during the winter months.

We keep busy while at home hiking, snowshoeing and making items for our small, in-home business. Alice is an accomplished jewelry artist and I have been making decorative and functional wooden vessels on a lathe for the past seventeen years. We don't travel to shows, or maintain a business website, so all of our sales are through local shows and contacts. Keeps it simple.

I resumed my affair with motorcycles almost twenty years ago and still enjoy getting out on my current one as often as possible. Living where we do it is pretty close to motorcycle heaven, on both paved and dirt roads, as long as it's not snowing.

I have been accused of having hermit-like tendencies and I guess it might be true. The idea of spending three days in Boulder socializing with classmates from 50 Years Ago! just doesn't appeal to me, although I'm sure there will be folks there that I would really enjoy catching up with.

Hope you all have a great time. Lance

James Schmitz

Became a departed panther in 1975.

JIM SCHMITZ

From the 20th Reunion Panther Tracks. Submitted by Denis Kaufman:

I met Jim Schmitz for the first time when I walked into the 9th grade classroom in the old Sacred Heart Junior High School. I was the "new kid", a recent transplant from Poughkeepsie, New York. I was wearing a suit - everybody was in blue jeans or cords. In some ways there is a galaxy's distance between Catholic schools in Poughkeepsie and Boulder. Jimmy came over to my desk, introduced himself, and told me what was happening in the 13-14 year old scene. I learned, for instance, that The Tikki Club was the place to hang out if you were fourteen. I was thirteen unfortunately. By the time I turned fourteen, the Tikki was a memory - and on its way to being the first of Boulder's many restored warehouses.

Jimmy Schmitz, even at fourteen, possessed a quality I'd never run into before - and still can't describe to my satisfaction today. He always seemed confident, almost arrogant - but not really arrogant - more sure that he could do whatever he set his mind to. He was rebellious the way he suffered the constraints of being fourteen. I suspect that he had a personal difference with God for not bringing him into the world already in his twenties. And, he had values and scruples. He liked to look out for the underdogs; maybe that's why he went out of his way to make friends with a new kid trying desperately hard to be "cool".

Jimmy was ambitious and a hard worker. It went with his confidence. He was going to be in the catbird seat - on his terms, and he didn't mind working for it. That meant the Pizza Hut Restaurant chain. He had family connections and used them - to get an entry-level job and work his way up through the chain. The summer we graduated from high school, Jimmy and I worked at the old Pizza Hut in University Plaza. I learned a lot about responsibility and earning your way that summer. I also got to watch Jimmy swing into action against obnoxious customers. A booth full of drunks was pestering the waitress while they waited for Jim to fix their pizza. I watched him mix half a shaker of ground pepper into their tomato sauce before he spread it on the pizza. The customers, understandably disturbed that their pizza was a scorch, complained. Jim offered to taste a small piece, declared it a bit on the mild side, and suggested that they weren't used to the kind of hot foods people liked in Colorado. The customers proceeded to choke down the rest of the pizza, and Jimmy slipped out of view and gulped down a pitcher of water.

I left for boot camp in San Diego later that summer. I saw Jimmy when I came home for recruit leave. We built a fireplace for his parents up in Nederland. We spent the night in an old unheated house, just as the nights turned cold. My blood was thinned out in San Diego's summer of course. After a freezing night, we left - ran out of gas just near Barker Dam, and coasted home down Boulder Canyon. I only saw Jimmy a few times after that.

He and my brother, Stephen, headed off to Texas to make their fortunes. "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" was a hit about that time; Stephen was Butch and Jimmy was Sundance. After a month or so in Fort Worth, Stephen returned to Boulder; Jimmy stayed on in Texas.

I saw Jimmy for the last time when my brother got married. Jimmy was living in Kansas City then and drove straight through to Boulder so he could be there. He was a little more subdued than I remembered, but otherwise was the same Jim Schmitz as always. He signed the guest book and left shortly after the reception. The signature read, "Never stop ... Jim".

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition
Boulder High School Class of 1969*

Two years later, May 1975, I was stationed in California and got a message that Stephen was in a coma following a serious car accident. The next week, in mid-May, I heard that Jimmy was killed in a car wreck in Fort Scott, Kansas. He was going home to pack a few things and head back to Boulder to see Stephen. I remember thinking it was Butch and Sundance's last ride.

It's hard to believe that so many of us have made it to the 50th! I am sad to see how many have not.

I have many episodes of experience that can be seen on Facebook (which is open to the public) that don't need repeating here, except for perhaps a few comments.

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition
Boulder High School Class of 1969*

I spent so much of my life wondering what I am going to do when I grew up? This question hadn't begun to be answered until I was approximately 45 years old when I found myself running my own company that did market research on high tech electronics products. Happily, I was in Silicon Valley - in the heart of technology innovation. Still, nothing significantly great came about this until I settled down and accepted that I wasn't going to be fabulously rich or famous and that what I had and was good enough.

I ended up divorcing my famous wife and settled for an ordinary but beautiful Chinese partner that matched my needs perfectly. Only then did I start to understand and restrain my wild ambitions and dreams.

Regardless, it is the old friends that I remember the most now, along with the images and feelings of times past. South Boulder was first among them along with gymnastics in high school, and the great CU college images that are still vivid to me today.

World travels are chief among my other memories. Today as I am privileged to roam Europe in pleasure and Asia in work. My business is successful and I have no regrets - only positive memories.

I am healthy and satisfied overall, with many good friends to remind me of the old and good times. I have come to accept the shortcomings that always appeared to be so big and unfilled.

I go by the name Randall now, as "Randy" was always associated with my childhood. But I'm happy to hear this now as it reminds me of a different time and I sincerely enjoy speaking with old friends who still call me this as it brings back warm memories.

Sondra Shipley

Became a departed panther in 1987.

SONDRA SHIPLEY

From the 20th Reunion Panther Tracks. Submitted by some of her friends:

A neighbor described Sondra as "incredibly kind, someone who would do anything to help others". Those of us who knew Sondra from elementary school days would agree that such a description fit her all her life. Sondra's life ended abruptly June 5, 1987, after several months' battle with Amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (Lou Gehrig's disease). She married Bill Busch shortly after college, worked for awhile as a dental assistant, and then had two sons - Billy and Bobby, now 10 and 6. Sondra was extremely outgoing, organizing a Neighborhood

Watch program where she lived in Broomfield. She enjoyed aerobics and crafts, often crocheting baby items to sell in Estes Park. Many of us knew Sondra long before our Boulder High years and find her absence at this reunion a great loss.

Karen & I have been retired from Boulder Valley Schools for 14 years now. Along the way old age commenced, and we find it difficult to remember ever teaching. However, we fully enjoyed receiving our Medicare cards, and look forward to using them as often as possible. I am still actively collecting Boulder County advertising pieces, and still enjoy doing historical county research. We still have our cabin in Gold Hill and try to get there as often as possible. But, after living in Boulder for the past 63 years, we finally moved to Longmont. The “Old Boulder” that both of us grew up with just isn’t there anymore. How very sad.

Well, let's talk about career choices. Mine have been questionable in economic terms, but rewarding in terms of life satisfaction.

After graduating from CU I went into the newspaper business. It

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition

was journalism's golden age in the wake of Woodward and Bernstein, though there was never any money in it to speak of. I was in the field for 22 years, working in Nebraska, Montana and Idaho, mostly as a sportswriter. By and large I enjoyed it tremendously, but by the time I quit the business in 1994, the internet was beginning to erode the industry's foundation and it wasn't much fun to work in anymore.

In 1992 I married Glenda Helbert, a fellow newspaper wretch from Olympia. Two years later we moved back to the Colorado Front Range and eventually I got a job as a corporate writer and editor for a global real estate corporation: another career choice that ultimately turned bad with the 2008 real estate-led crash. For about 12 of the 14 years I enjoyed it before organizational and management changes turned it sour. In 2011 I was involuntarily retired from the corporate world, and two years later I formed my own company, Your Family Storyteller. The foundation of the business is writing family stories and turning them into published books.

I've written five family books and ghost-written two business books for networking acquaintances. My pride and joy is soon to be published. It's an account of my friend Sedin Omeragic and his family. Sedin was a teenager in Bosnia during the Serbian genocide of the 1990s. He and his family went through hell for three years but eventually came to America, where they are thriving. This book is a very human story: the Omeragics belong(ed) to three groups that are widely feared and hated in today's toxic political atmosphere: Muslims, refugees and immigrants. The book puts a human face on these people and I hope will, in a small way, serve to un-demonize them.

Currently I'm Glenda's caregiver. She had a big stroke in 2015 and has now been diagnosed with symptoms of Parkinson's. She can get around the house with the help of a walker, but outside is wheelchair-bound. All I can say is this: Thank you, LBJ and Congress in the '60s, for Medicare. Without it we'd be sunk.

dog kennel assistant, handler for website photos, and facilitate dog and cat adoptions.

I've been married for thirty-five years and we have twin sons who live in the area. We have a grand dog but no grandkids, and the grand-dog hangs out with us while everyone is working.

I continue to love reading, hiking, and try to stay strong by working out in the local rec. center with the other Silver Sneaker folks. I'm so grateful for good health and content to greet each day by every gift of nature, family and friends.

I'm retired but working 40+ hours a week. I spent 3 months (Dec -Feb. 2019) travelling in Morocco with my daughter, working and visiting friends in Greece and staying with my daughter in London where she lives and works now. Then I came home to Tucson and started teaching Spanish 20 hours a week and volunteering helping the immigrants 20+ hours a week. Mostly I'm translating but I'm also working in the kitchen. We have about 400 immigrants a day that we feed, dress, house and help them with their transportation to where their sponsors live. Even though the situation is quite sad the work is very gratifying.

I keep travelling as much as possible. The next big trip on my bucket list is for about 4 months going back to visit friends in Thailand then up to Beijing to take the Trans Siberian train to Moscow. I am thinking about spending 2-3 months doing that, hopping on and off the train. Anyone up for that?

My daughter, Krysia, is the manager for Great Britain for a German bikeshare company. She is quite busy but she always seems to find time to travel a bit with me. I'm proud to say that I don't own a car and haven't for 4 years now. I just have a bicycle. So I try to keep myself in somewhat good shape. I still love being active, even though it is a bit slower now.

Hello to Boulder High School Class of 1969,
Thank you so much for the invite to the reunion . However, I will not be able to attend the festivities due to work.

Recently, a friend said to me,

" .. So you got up, ate, slept , went to work again - that's all you 've done for the past forty plus years?" Basically, sad but true . A lot of people live life by their work schedule, why should I be any different, because I attended Boulder High School? OK, let me regress, and not regret! My whole family has a history of being classical musicians, so I played violin in the Boulder High orchestra.

After a year of construction work digging ditches, I decided to practice, practice, practice my ass off, hours and hours of training my fingers to do what they were told to do. I finally landed a job in the violin section of the Seattle Symphony Orchestra in 1978. Yes, it's a real job, six days a week (in top form), over 200 concerts a year! Billions of notes played to perfection, need a new tuxedo every season. Very demanding job, yes, but comes with benefits - medical, dental, pension, and most of all, not having to line up a new gig every week. For a musician, that's like gold ! And plus, I am the most famous violinist in the Seattle Symphony because I have played almost every concert for the past 40 years, so I get recognized in public 3-4 times a week. Fame but not fortune, what can you do? Well if you 're a musician, you just do it again and again, until you get it right!

Boulder High School Class of 1969*

Recently I turned 68 years old - how the hell did that happen?!?

I guess it happens to other people too! (hahaha)

To finish the story, I have to add:

Never married - not even Gay!

No children, (well, two terriers - Bert & Ernie - no college tuition to pay!)

The plan is to retire soon to the Oregon Coast, can't afford Boulder, alas.

To you 50th Reunion committee- Barb, Warren, Ernie -

A lot of work, kudos to your organizational skills , and we appreciate what you have done for all the rest of us "50'ers". Enclosed you will find a check for $50 to help with reunion expenses.

Best to you all -

Clark Story

PS - You will notice from the enclosed photos, there was one thing I did not learn at Boulder High School. ...

HOW TO SHAVE!

Act) and serve on the board of a small foundation that makes grants for health care for people with low incomes in the metro Detroit area. Mary volunteers at a small Methodist church that does outreach in an impoverished neighborhood in Detroit. Our son Alan is married to a wonderful young man named Tyler. They are both engineers working in R&D for nuclear reactors for Navy submarines. For the last few years I have been helping a mother and her 9-year-old son who are Syrian refugees. I enjoy interacting with this “honorary grandson”. It is also an education on how necessary and yet imperfect are the safety net programs like Medicaid, food stamps, and welfare.

A bit more on my career: I studied physics at Michigan State University and Stanford and then took a job at GM Research Labs using lasers to study combustion (measuring the temperature and chemical concentrations in flames). While the research was fun, it didn’t give GM a competitive advantage, so I transitioned to more practical areas including spark ignition, magnetic position sensors, and metal spray coatings. When GM spun off its component divisions to make Delphi, I went to Delphi Research Labs and joined a group using computers to model production machining processes (to improve productivity). Along the way I worked on various technologies related to fuel economy, and my last few years at Delphi involved reviewing government research on these technologies.

Love the guidelines ... don't write a novel about the past 50 years! So here are my bullet points:

- 1). So painfully shy in HS you probably don't remember me.
- 2). Got over it in college... CSU and UNC
- 3). First real job, teaching in a one-room school in mountains of WY ... dream come true. Eventually taught and ended my career in an amazing school in the mountains near Aspen.
- 4). Married and divorced, but inherited two beautiful lifelong stepsons and grandkids.
- 5). Sooo guess I'm not supposed to fill in the juicy parts of the 'novel' here...

Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition
Boulder High School Class of 1969

- 6). Moved to Denver 10 years ago, diagnosed with MS..... but I'm totally cool with it, just had to adjust my thinking.
- 7). Hard to believe it's been friggin 50 years since HSbut I actually love being on this side of life!! I'm really hoping I can make this reunion.

Barbara Tisserat

Became a departed panther in 2017.

BARBARA TISSEURAT

Compiled from "Remembering Tisserat", published in the Richmondmag, and written by Harry Kollatz Jr.:

Barbara Tisserat, a lithographer and longtime Virginia Commonwealth University professor much admired by her colleagues and students, died in her home state of Colorado on Monday after a more than two-year struggle with lung cancer. She was 66.

She joined VCU's Department of Painting and Printmaking in 1978. When the school moved into its new Broad Street building, she organized and implemented the lithography studio.

In 2006, Tisserat received a nomination for Richmond magazine's Theresa Pollak Prize for Excellence in the Arts. When I called her about the news, she politely declined to accept, citing her ambivalence and reluctance about public recognition.

Another consistent subject in Tisserat's body of work is her presentation of the Colorado landscape. She grew up there, often returned, and with some wistfulness recorded the alterations to once-familiar scenes. "Tremendous changes are occurring there," she said, "as open land is turned into subdivisions. So there's a certain amount of melancholy, which is part, I suppose, of having a certain perspective over time."

Patty Parks, who knew Tisserat well, shared her thoughts via social media: "This is a sadder world for me, but how lucky I was to have Barbara as a good friend in a world of many wonderful acquaintances. A mutual friend of ours, Masumi [Seki], a printmaker from Tokyo, gave the perfect description of Barbara, 'I will always remember her as the calm and witty person that made us feel the world is what it is, but no matter, we will be fine in her company.' Barbara had that calming effect on everyone. That is what made her everyone's favorite professor."

I am a retired Oracle Database Administrator. Worked at Western Area Power Administration for 20+ years.

My husband and I do a lot of wildlife travel to far away places such as Borneo, Uganda, Antarctica, Galapagos, Ecuador, Tanzania, etc. We also are eclipse chasers so will be in Chile the first part of July to view another total eclipse of the sun.... I have a very large number of "minutes in total darkness".

We are also competitive bridge players. We will be competing at the Summer Nationals for ACBL (American Contract Bridge League) in Las Vegas the weekend of the reunion so will not be able to attend.

I have two grown sons, three granddaughters, one great-grandson, and the best little dog that ever lived.

DON TRIPP

From the 20th Reunion Panther Tracks. Submitted by Hank Windmoeller:

Donny was a warm and generous classmate. We met at the age of seven when my family moved in two doors away. At that age we played with our toy cars, hiked and camped in the back yard, and played pickup games of football after school in the middle of the street. It was really nice to have a friend who made me feel welcome in Boulder.

At BHS we studied and endured Latin classes together. Donny, however, found much more satisfaction in playing golf and working on cars. In fact, Don was a great mechanic; he could fix anything. I remember how proud he was of the Austin minicooper that he bought and rebuilt. Although always busy either studying or working, Don made the time to help with Key Club activities, work at fundraisers and decorate the gym for school dances.

It's been twenty years, and like most of our classmates I'm sure we'd have gone our separate ways, but Donny, we still think of you, your smile, your generosity and we miss you.

Wow... summarizing five decades in a couple of paragraphs... but I am interested in others so here goes.

After BHS, I attended CSU and was fortunate to select water engineering as a career. I loved Army ROTC and planned to be a career soldier. But senior year I met Mary Ann and we were married in 1974 . We completed our masters degrees at CU and headed to Boise, Idaho for a "5 year adventure" (we're still there). Our son Paul came in 1979, daughter Erin in 1981 and daughter Lara in 1991. I worked for the Idaho Department of Water Resources for 33 years and retired to form Idaho Water Engineering -- still at it with no retirement plans. Mary Ann has been a practicing PA since 1997 -- now part time. I was an Army Reservist for 30 years -- loved the challenge and camaraderie -- still at it with reunions with my buddies.

We are blessed to have 3 grandchildren -- the youngest, 6 mo. old Mia, just went back to Baltimore with her parents after 3 lovely weeks in Boise. We took family photos while all were here -- will post one when available.

I have also been blessed to have my friend Phil Smith as an ongoing buddy since we met at Casey JH. Margaret Kneebone has been a lifelong friend. I reconnected with BHS buddy Mike Warchal a few years ago and we have had good times together. I have enjoyed meals with Don Brown, Walt Teets and Ken Allen during the past couple of years. I have warm feelings about the years spent at BHS and I am grateful for the friends made there.

We are not certain that we will be able to attend the reunion this summer but it would be great to see more friends. Thanks to the Reunion Committee for making this happen! - Dave

After graduation from Boulder High School I matriculated (hah! 50 cent word!) at the CU College of Music, from which I received a Bachelor of Music, Vocal Performance in 1974. Total Ivory Tower degree.

Moved to the big city (Denver) and got married that December, divorced in 1979, married again in 1982, divorced in 1988, married again in 1993 and bingo! Paul and I will celebrate our 26th anniversary the week of our reunion! He and I met at Anderson Mason Dale Architects (AMD) in Denver, where I was at the front desk and he was the bright young star. By the time I retired from there thirteen years later, I was Marketing Manager and he was a partner. He is now President! I feel so full of gratitude for my life. We live in the beautiful house I bought with my ex in 1977, although it's barely recognizable after the architect has had his way with it. We are extremely fortunate and still very much in love.

Paul and I have visited 29 countries. Looked at a lot of buildings and art and other cool stuff. As we are both ocean people living as far from the ocean as possible, we do our best to get to the beach at least once a year. When he retires in a couple of years (he's younger than I), we'll be getting there more often.

Along the way: co-founded Denver's first singing telegram service: Music To Go, and worked for a couple of veterinarian clinics, which I absolutely loved; was a professional soloist at a few churches, and a volunteer chorister at the Colorado Symphony Orchestra Chorus for several years, and now with the Columbine Chorale. Good soul-feeding music!

After retiring from AMD I decided I'd had enough of deadlines and stress and became an esthetician with my own practice. There I was able to nurture and de-stress others until my structurally flawed body forced an end to that. So I retired for the second time. Since then I've done some volunteering at North High School's vocal department. But mostly I'm just growing a bigger butt.

I never had children, though Paul has a daughter in her 30's who has two boys, ages 4 and 14, who I adore. They live in Idaho. I'm a big animal lover, however, so have had quite a few four-legged children. Currently have only one 18-year-old kitty who I am honored to serve. That's MISS Mariposa to you!

In writing this bio, I am realizing how difficult it is to summarize 50 years in a nutshell, and am grateful to all of our classmates who've taken the time to do so. It's been a delight to read them!

I am so startled and saddened by the number of departed classmates, and would like to thank the friends, family and classmates who've written such poignant and touching tributes to them.

And thank you to the reunion organizers! They have performed wonders for us in this gargantuan task! I'm super excited to see many friends from Boulder High! Gotta go get in shape! My reunion's next week!

After graduation from High School, I spent my first four years in the US Navy deployed to the Western Pacific supporting a submarine squadron and the remaining two years of my enlistment a crew member on a nuclear submarine. Returning to Colorado I spent twenty two years working at the National Center for Atmospheric Research developing Doppler Radar systems and remote sensing instruments. The last 11 years at NCAR I worked in IT. After 35 years there I retired. I am currently married for 41 years and have two children and four grandchildren that all live in the Boulder/Denver area.

What is important about the last 50 years of my life? I don't know how to answer that for myself, much less for people I haven't seen in decades. I've been thinking about how my life has changed since 1969 and how surprised I would have been if I could have foreseen the future.

Here are some of the things I would never have expected: Nashville TN has been my home for 43 years. I married one of my professors in graduate school and became stepmother to 3 daughters. I've spent my entire career as a professor of pediatrics and psychology at Vanderbilt University Medical School, doing research, teaching and clinical work. My focus has been on mind-body aspects of persistent pain syndromes (fibromyalgia, irritable bowel syndrome) and helping teens cope with those conditions -- a rewarding career that makes me reluctant to retire, though I plan to do that next year.

I had a wonderful marriage for 30 years and lost my husband to the ravages of Parkinson's Disease in 2013. With much urging by friends, I finally got onto Match.com and -- beginner's luck -- the second person I met was a keeper! Keith and I have been together for several years, and I look forward to spending this next stage of my life with him. As for this next stage, I worry a lot about our planet and how I should live my life in such challenging times. I'd love to hear from others about how you are dealing with these issues.

I fully expected to retire years ago but something keeps holding me back so I am still working as a water lawyer at Dietze and Davis in Boulder. I have been active in the Boulder County Bar Association (President in 2014) and I taught water law at D.U. for several years. I have two amazing children, Andrew and Rachel, who are both in their early 30's and live in Denver. In 2006 I married an amazing guy and we have lived in west Boulder since then. My husband is a water resources engineer whose work takes him all over the world so we have taken advantage of that to travel to many exotic destinations. In addition to travel, we like to ski, hike, take classes, go to plays and foreign/independent films and spend time with friends. I am really looking forward to seeing everyone at the reunion.

Phil Waters

Became a departed panther in 1977.

PHIL WATERS

From the 20th Reunion Panther Tracks. Submitted by Rick Geesaman:

Phil Waters 1951-1977. Every memory I have of Phil is a good one. They run the gamut from the ridiculous to the sublime, and always have the common thread of friendship. The earliest surviving image I have of Phil was from an extended fishing trip with our fathers in our pubescent teen years. I'd spend the days fishing, Phil would ride horses and become friendlier with the resort owner's daughter; I didn't understand until later why he downgraded the priority of fishing.

The next image I have of Phil was skiing. Phil skied the way he did his routines at gymnastics, with a style and flair few of his peers could approach. Being terminally graceless, I could only watch with amazement as he gleefully tore down the slopes of Winter Park, performing an intricate series of acrobatic turns, jumps, and tip-rolls. Throughout the high school years Phil performed competently at academics. He lettered in gymnastics, and was actively involved with social affairs. (I can still remember the incredible Maroon lame' tuxedo he wore to the junior prom). Phil's appealing personality and leadership qualities made it easy for him to become friends with a wide variety of his classmates, male and female alike.

Following graduation from high school in 1969, Phil attended the University of Colorado for one year. Soon thereafter, Phil developed a case of chronic depression and was hospitalized. This depression would continue to haunt Phil for years to come.

Phil relocated to Aspen and worked at a variety of jobs after leaving the hospital. After several ski seasons, Phil moved back to Boulder and learned to be a carpenter, working for a number of different contractors. During the last few years of his life, he ran his own business. Phil died in the mountains he loved in November, 1977.

After high school I went to college for a couple of years. I wasn't very motivated so I took a year off to go skiing. After 10 years working for ski areas in Colorado and Montana I returned to school where I met my former wife and finished my degree. I have 2 great boys, both in the area. I had a 30 year career doing international data networking and Internet stuff. I am now retired, live between Lafayette and Vail where I have a part time job. A friend told me I was going backwards. I'm OK with that. Looking forward to seeing everyone in 2019!

I recently retired from the New York Times newspaper in May, 2018, after 22 years. I was in their Financial Department in Manhattan. Before that I spent 3 years in the Boston area teaching part time as an adjunct professor. Prior to that I was with Public Service Company of Colorado, now Excel Corp, for 16 years. I worked in their Boulder and Denver offices. I also am retired from the Army National Guard.

Along the way I graduated from the University of Colorado in Boulder with a BSBu and received an MBA from their Denver campus. Also I got a Certified Public Accountant accreditation from Colorado.

I have been married for 31 years and have 3 grown children. My wife is still working as a full time professor at Pace University. One daughter lives in Breckenridge, Colorado. She works for a nonprofit there giving counseling to parents with infants. We visit twice in the winter to ski and once in the summer to hike/bike. Another daughter lives in the Boston area. She works as a teacher's aide and hopes to teach elementary school full time. She is 4 hours away so we visit often. My son lives in California, outside of LA, in the San Bernardino mountains. He is a camp counselor for Middle School kids near Big Bear Lake.

I have been an adjunct professor for over 25 years and currently teach at two local colleges in the classroom and online. I also do volunteer work as a counselor advising low income folks on money management issues. I am also on the Board of the Directors for the New York Times Employees Credit Union. I was also a Deacon of our church.

I'm looking forward to the 50th reunion, although I must confess that this one will be bitter sweet because I see that some of my close high school friends are no longer with us. I suppose that everyone has discovered that to some degree. So, more the reason to reach out to the ones that are still here. In fact, over the past year I've made a habit of going out of my way to drop by and see some of them just to say hello and see how they are doing.

I've been living in Calgary, Alberta, Canada going on 24 years now. I didn't plan it that way; like so many things in life it just happened. Our two boys are out of the roost, so we have lots of room for visitors ;-). Son #1 works in Atlanta for Delta airlines and #2 son is a Dr. of Physiotherapy.

My wife, Jan, is also a geologist and teaches at a university in Calgary, Mt. Royal University. She is always looking for someone to guide on a field trip or just tour the mountains geocaching or just taking pictures. I'm always looking for someone to float the Bow River on a fly fishing trip. We've traveled to Europe, Iceland, Ireland and Hawaii, where we seem to always focus on the rocks and history.

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition
Boulder High School Class of 1969*

Except for two years in the mining industry, I have worked in the petroleum industry my entire career. I have lived and worked in the Alaskan bush north of the Arctic Circle; Spokane, Washington; Casper, Wyoming; Edmond, Oklahoma; Midland Texas; Bakersfield, California; Calgary, Canada; Mumbai, India; and traveled to and worked briefly in a few other countries, Australia, Brazil, Peru, Mexico, UK, Sweden and others...God bless the USA. Despite my many trips to Latin America my Spanish and Portuguese still suck.

I continue to fail at retirement. I have three small companies in Brazil related to the oil and gas industry: an offshore survey company focused on collecting seismic and other marine data; an exploration and production company; and a company recently formed to build small refineries to serve the marine fuel market along Brazil's Atlantic margin. When I'm not dealing with business stuff I am a Director at the Canadian Global Exploration Forum, a business networking group, and also the Conference Chairman again this year.

One a personal note, I have joined the ranks of cancer survivors and plan to keep it that way. I sometimes write about my travels and some of those adventures (or misadventures) are posted on Classmates.com.

Western State College, Gunnison, CO, was an excellent experience, both educationally and socially. I don't visit Gunnison much anymore, but I remember the people and experience fondly. When I started grad school at the Colorado School of Mines, I found that WSC had prepared me well.

Although the Colorado School of Mines is a small school, its reputation is worldwide. Can't say I had a lot of fun there, but as a base for launching a professional career, it was an amazing experience. I keep track of several old classmates there and have a pic of them of Facebook when they sported a younger look.

*Panther Tracks 50th Reunion Edition
Boulder High School Class of 1969*

I have enjoyed the BHS high school reunions; they each had some kind of take away.

10-year reunion: Didn't make it. I was more interested in chasing after my future wife.

20-year reunion: Met a lot of great folks that I never hung out with in high school and was also glad to see so many old friends too.

30-year reunion: Learned that many of us ignored the advice of a certain high school counselor...we're all glad we did.

40-year reunion: Well, it has come and gone. I've posted my reflections of that event in the message board on this page.

I used to be very outdoorsie, but now it's only the occasional fishing trip, camp-out, or drive into the mountains to take some pics.

Seniors bequeath novelties in their terminal testament

We, the Class of '69, being of sound mind (?) and blasted bodies do hereby declare this our last will and testament:

I, Chuck Wolzien, leave my fast guitar fingers to Roger Bell.

I, Amelie Buchanan, leave my autographed copy of "How to Avoid Chuck Wolzien's Fast Fingers" to Alice Winchester.

I, Gregg Hawkins, leave my gilt-edged Jean-Claude Killy pocket mirror and Clint Eastwood cigars to Kris Husted.

I, Danay Nykamp, leave my second row seat on the south side of the football bleachers to Police Chief Vendel.

I, Lloyd Hendrickson, leave three cases of deodorant to anyone who dates a cheerleader next year.

I, Dan Hughes, bequeath my specially constructed Charles Atlas T-Shirt and my quiet, unassuming manner of speaking to Vic Langhart.

I, Gene Mercer, leave my grassy plot on Marine Street to anyone who wants to get ahead.

I, Janice Estey, leave my naval to Mike Greenwood.

I, Mike Brundage, leave my heavyweight wrestling classification to Neil Brown.

I, Dudley Hopkins, leave my 40 blank admit slips to Vicki Howard.

I, Bob Lundein, leave my van and mattress and accessories to whoever is man enough to handle 'em.

I, Bill Dugan, leave my Brooks Brothers wardrobe to Gary Wilson.

I, Curt Collins, leave my bladeless Techmatric Razor to some hairless little weenie!

I, Pat Hubbard, leave my sideburns to anyone who owns a lawnmower.

I, Bev Klundt, leave my ultra-liberal thoughts and ideas to Marian Michener.

I, Eric Saunders, leave my pure and uncorrupted mind to the biology department.

I, Ken Bell, bequeath my microphone and golden voice to Bruce Trent and Frank Ryan.

I, Shirley Ditzel, leave my demure and ladylike ways to Sue Russell.

I, Rick Geesaman, leave my savage attitude to John Cowgill.

I, Captain Billy Caldwell, bequeath my white sock to anyone who dares to wear 'em.

I, John Cohagen, leave my summer villa in Europe to Billy Aspinwall. (I never used it anyway.)

We, the Senior Jeepers, wish to leave the Back Meadow to anybody with a roll bar and hospital insurance.

We, the Pompon girls do leave our snappy rhythm to the Show Choir.

We, the Senior Women, DO NOT HAVE ANYTHING TO GIVE.

We, the Senior Men, do leave for Canada.

We the Class of '69 do rename Marine Street Marlboro Country.

Celebrating 50 years

Boulder Cork is 50.

The fine dining establishment at 3295 30th St., opened in 1969 and originally was part of Cork 'N Cleaver, a national restaurant chain. It was bought in 1981 by Alan Teran, the then-CEO of the Boulder-based company, after the chain decided to focus on developing Mexican restaurants instead of steakhouses, Teran said.

After he took over, Teran changed the name to Boulder Cork and tweaked the menu. Boulderites love to eat out and support home-grown businesses instead of chain restaurants, he said.

Consistency has helped the restaurant thrive, he said. Teran credits his core team — which includes Donna Karmen, manager who started as a hostess in 1978; Jim Smailor, chef since 1981; and Greg Larson, sous-chef who has worked at the restaurant more than 30 years — for its commitment to providing the highest quality of food and service to patrons. The team helps bring an air of familiarity for regulars as they work to create a comfortable, friendly ambience for others, Teran said.

Dave Query, owner of Big Red F restaurant group that includes, among others, Centro Mexican Kitchen, Jax Fish House & Oyster Bar, Zolo Grill and The West End Tavern, highlighted Teran's hands-on approach, hard work and experience for the success of Boulder Cork.

"(Teran) works in the restaurant like a Kennedy in an election year," Query said.

Teran's long-standing "intelligent partnership" with his staff members also has helped him deliver a top-notch experience to customers, Query said.

"With Donna and Jim around the restaurant, you have a sense of walking into your own house. Long before the farm to table movement was chic, Jim was sourcing local produce," he said.

"Cork is the greatest restaurant in Boulder. Its continued success is a testimony to that. In its 50th year, it's the best version of itself," Query said.

Over the years, Cork's menu has come to include seafood, burgers, sandwiches, and southwestern specialties, Teran said. The restaurant started its happy hour tradition in 2009 to acquaint more people with its offerings.

"We just didn't want to be a special occasion restaurant," he said.

Teran calls himself an accidental restaurateur. He studied business in college and had job offers from several companies including Procter & Gamble Co., but ended up working in the restaurant industry. He has enjoyed the ride, focusing on operations and customer service.

"I'm the Mr. Fixit Man," he said.

Restaurant manager Karmen called Teran "a good boss," who is very good with finances, and is not afraid to get his hands dirty. "That's why we are here at 50 years."

Most of Boulder Cork's 50 employees have worked for years at the restaurant, she said, which helps ease the operational challenges in the day-to-day running of the restaurant, Karmen said. "We can put our heads together to solve problems," she said.

100 Years of Consumer Activism

Healthier Foods 1905

At the turn of the century, food manufacturers operated with minimal government oversight. Slowly the public began demanding change, and Good Housekeeping ran numerous articles on food purity, advising readers to shop carefully and pushing for legislation. In 1905, we introduced the "Roll of Honor for Pure Food Products," a monthly list of packaged foods inspected and approved by our staff scientists. This program was applauded by health officials and consumers across the country.

IMPACT: In 1906, the Pure Food and Drug Act was passed.

Back-Saving Sinks 1908

The GH Institute's testing and cooking laboratories were created in 1908.

At the time, kitchen sinks were built low to the ground, requiring users to bend over. When our planners persuaded a builder and architect (who initially "clung tenaciously to their established standard") to install the sinks at a more comfortable height, manufacturers began to rethink the specifications of kitchen design.

IMPACT: Today, the standard height for all kitchen sinks and counters is 36 inches.

Safer Toys 1969

In a "Better Way" story, we endorsed the Child Protection and Toy Safety Act then before Congress, which called for more strenuous screening of toys for flammability, toxicity, and electrical or mechanical defects. But we took things a step further by rejecting ads for toys with sharp edges and those for crib or toddler use that contained small objects, which could cause choking. Our policy was a wake-up call to the industry to improve its monitoring procedures.

IMPACT: In 1972, more stringent national standards for toys were established including tests for sharp edges and small parts.

Protecting Newborns 1995

Our feature "Home Too Soon" documented a shocking practice known as "drive-through deliveries." In 1993, HMOs and insurance companies began pressuring hospitals to discharge mothers and newborns within 24 hours of birth—sometimes jeopardizing the health of the babies. The article included a coupon urging readers to join our lobby to help pass a bill that would require insurers to cover a minimum stay of 48 hours.

IMPACT: More than 85,000 people sent in coupons. The Newborns' and Mothers' Health Protection Act became law in 1996; Good Housekeeping's efforts were recognized by the White House.
